

Dispute Settled On Commission For Districting

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney and Democratic leaders settled their dispute over legislative apportionment Monday, agreeing to terms under which a temporary commission will be at work by next week.

In a 1½-hour meeting in Romney's office, the governor conceded to Democratic demands by agreeing to ask the legislature next month to give the temporary commission legal status and provide it with operating funds.

In return, Democratic State Chairman Zoltan Ferency promised to name four Democratic members of the commission—subject to state central committee approval—by the end of this week.

And Secretary of State James Hare, one of the Democratic contingent at the meeting, said he would issue a call to convene the temporary committee as soon as its members are appointed.

Republicans Selected
The Republican Party named four members earlier in expectation that the official commission could begin its work within 30 days after the Constitution was approved by voters April 1.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled, however, that "adoption" of the document means Jan. 1—the date it becomes effective—and that the commission could have no official status before then.

The opinion will be challenged in a lawsuit, but Romney told Ferency the case need have no bearing on what the temporary commission is able to accomplish beforehand.

The issue is a critical one because the 180 days provided for the official commission to complete its work after Jan. 31 would run past the June 16 deadline for candidates to file for election to the legislature in 1965.

Without a reapportionment plan, Michigan might have a legislature elected at-large, or possibly no legislature at all.

Cutoff Date Rejected
The eight members of the temporary commission will become members of the permanent, bipartisan commission Jan. 1.

Romney sought to set Jan. 31 as the cutoff date for expenditure of operating money as what he termed "an incentive" to the commission to finish its work.

Democrats objected, and Romney agreed that he would ask for an extra month's funds if needed to finish the job of remapping legislative districts.

Money to pay the apportionment commission presumably will be based on a $35 per day allotment proposed earlier by Hare and the state controller's office.

But some $25,000 appropriated earlier by the legislature cannot be used to pay the commission's expenses until lawmakers give their consent anew, Kelley said.

Khrushchev Gives Tito Welcoming Bear Hug, Kisses

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev flew into Belgrade today and rushed into the outstretched arms of Yugoslav President Tito.

Wives of the two leaders stood by as Khrushchev ran five or six steps from his plane and flung himself into Tito's arms.

Khrushchev and Tito greeted one another like long lost brothers with a cordial bear hug and kisses on the cheeks.

There was no sign of the past animosities that had frequently scarred relations between them since Khrushchev's last visit here in 1956.

In his welcoming speech, Tito hailed Khrushchev's role in achieving a limit nuclear test ban agreement with the United States and Britain.

"We hail your efforts for calming the world situation to make it impossible for world reactionary forces which desire to throw the world into a new catastrophe," Tito said.

Khrushchev, in reply, thanked Tito for inviting him to Yugoslavia and said he was looking forward to continuing talks begun during Tito's visit to Moscow last December.

In an open affront to the Red Chinese, Khrushchev again paid tribute to Yugoslavia as a socialist country.

The Chinese denounce Tito as a deviationist and agent of imperialism who has sabotaged socialism in Yugoslavia.

The Red Chinese snubbed Khrushchev by sending a second secretary to the airport instead of a top embassy official. They merely said the Chinese charge d'affaires, who is in Belgrade, was unable to come.

Pickets Stage
Ann Arbor Sit-In

By The Associated Press
Pickets demanding stronger anti-discrimination laws demonstrated at the Lansing and Ann Arbor city halls Monday, and a sit-in at Ann Arbor's city council chambers continued today despite threats of legal action.

At Lansing, 300 Negroes and whites picketed two hours in support of a stronger city human relations ordinance.

In other civil rights developments in Michigan:
—A Democratic leader called on religious leaders to oppose a petition drive aimed at overruling Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's formal opinion that Michigan's new civil rights commission will have sweeping powers in the field of private housing.

—Two Negro legislators asked the Fair Employment Practices Commission to investigate alleged job discrimination at horse race tracks.

—Members of Detroit's Commission on Community Relations decided to ask for stronger language in an anti-discrimination housing ordinance.

Dying Man, 40,
Nabbed As Killer Of Two Officers

RUSSELLVILLE, Ala. (AP)—A man said to be dying of cancer faces charges today on two counts of first degree murder in the slaying of a police chief and a sheriff.

Troy Thornton, 40, of Littleville, was taken into custody Monday about 15 miles south of the scene of Sunday's shooting.

His capture ended an intensive search by over 300 law enforcement officers.
The highway patrol said they picked up Thornton near where Colbert County Sheriff Herman Cook and Littleville Police Chief Neal Pace were shot to death.
The officers were shot while on a search for illegal whisky.
Deputy Ray Murray said Mrs. Thornton reported a doctor had recently told her husband he had cancer and would live only about six months.
"He thinks he has nothing to lose," she told officers.

Chief Of SAC Opposes Nuclear Test Ban Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller told senators today he believes the limited nuclear test ban treaty is "not a step for peace but rather a step away from safety, possibly a step toward war."

The University of California nuclear physicist testified that the last quarter century has been a time of "extremely rapid development, full of surprises," in the atomic field.

"At no time have we known what the next step will bring," he said. "What we are now trying to do, essentially, is to predict the future."

First Opponent
Teller was the first outright opponent of the treaty to testify at hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, at which members of the Armed Services and Atomic Energy Committees are sitting in.

Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, testified against ratification of the treaty Monday at closed hearings by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, a unit of the Armed Services Committee.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, the Air Force chief of staff, expressed misgivings about the treaty at the Foreign Relations Committee's hearings Monday, although he went along with the other service chiefs in supporting ratification provided specified security safeguards are carried out.

Teller, one of the creators of the hydrogen bomb, said the treaty banning tests in the atmosphere, in space, and under water would prohibit the United States from acquiring knowledge about the effects of nuclear weapons that he termed vital to the development of a missile defense.

Missile Defense Possible
Teller said that one of the many surprises in the nuclear field was the announcement by the Russians after their moratorium-breaking test series in 1961 that they had made "great strides toward a missile defense."

He said their test series gave the Russians every chance to make observations in the atmosphere for the development of an effective, or even a half effective, missile defense system.

Teller said he had thought in the past that development of an antiballistic missile system was hopeless but now is convinced that "we can put up a missile defense that will stop a weaker power like China" for the next two decades.

"I also believe our defense can be partially effective against Russia," he said. "We may not be able to save our cities, but we may be able to save our retaliatory capacity."

Teller said the development of a defense against incoming missiles may "make the difference between our survival of a nation and it may make the difference between peace and war."

Two Boats Shell Cuban Factory

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Shelling of an industrial plant on the north coast of Cuba was reported today by the Cuban radio. It was the third report of major hostile action against the Fidel Castro government since Friday.

The broadcast heard here said two boats Monday morning shelled a metal processing plant in Pinar Del Rio Province. The plant is 100 miles southwest of Havana.

The report said the shelling damaged tanks and pipes used to carry oil and sulphuric acid.

"We make the United States government directly responsible for this cowardly attack," the broadcast said in quoting a government communiqué.

"This is the third pirate attack against our country in the last 72 hours," Havana Radio said quoting the government's note, "which proves once more that the beginning of a new plan of aggressions against Cuba is under way, as announced by the American press."

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said the two boats approached the coast line from the flag ship out at sea through an access channel and opened fire on the installations with machine guns and bazookas. Several oil and sulphuric acid tanks and pipes were perforated, the radio said.

When militiamen stationed at the plant repelled the attack, the boats fled under cover of heavy machine gun fire from the flag ship, the broadcast said.

Romney Leading In Newsweek Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—A Newsweek Magazine poll says Gov. George Romney currently leads Republican contenders for the presidency, but adds that President Kennedy would win an election if one were held tomorrow.

The poll, conducted by Louis Harris, found Kennedy holding these percentage leads: 55-45 over Romney, 56-44 over Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, 58-42 over New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and 59-41 over Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton.

"There obviously is a need for a new approach of some sort to the resort liquor licensing situation," commented Sen. Harold Hughes, R-Clare, at the close of Monday's hearing.

Donald Leonard, chairman of the Liquor Control Commission, said because a 1941 law clamped a ceiling of 550 on the number of licenses in the state, there is a large backlog of requests for licenses.

Recently, there were about 4,000 applications on file, Leonard said.

Talks Fruitless In Ford Strike

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP)—Talks resume today between representative Workers Local 588 and Ford Motor Co.

Apparently little or no progress was made at Monday's talks. spokesmen for both sides declined comment.

The strike of 3,750 production workers began at midnight last Thursday in protest against what the union called health and safety factors at Ford's stamping plant. The walkout has idled more than 10,000 workers in Ford plants in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

The stamping plant makes panels for all Ford models except Lincoln Continental.

Commissioner Douglas Brown of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has offered to help settle the dispute.

But Robert Sturgiss, a Ford spokesman, said no mediation service officials attended Monday's meeting.

Police Hunt 19
In Mail Robbery

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard had 19 names today on its list of persons wanted in connection with Britain's great train robbery.

Detectives were confident the fugitives could not stay hidden much longer.

Yard chiefs also believe they know the source of inside information that helped the gang hold up the Glasgow-London mail train 48 miles northwest of London 12 days ago and escape with $7.2 million in British currency.

In those 12 days the Yard has staged one of the biggest man-hunts in British history. More than 100 search warrants have been issued.

The gang's pre-holdup hideout and the headquarters where the raid was planned have been discovered. Five persons have been arrested and about one-tenth of the stolen money has been recovered.

Lodge is arriving in Saigon Aug. 26 to take up his post. Buddhists said they had heard from reliable sources that government agents pretending to be assassins would show up at the airport, would be arrested and would implicate a Buddhist leader.

Liquor Licensing Laws Criticized

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's liquor licensing laws were criticized Monday as a stumbling block to economic growth in the rapidly-expanding tourist business.

An interim Senate committee on tourist industry relations heard several witnesses explain the difficulty some resort operators have in their efforts to attract more tourists.

"There obviously is a need for a new approach of some sort to the resort liquor licensing situation," commented Sen. Harold Hughes, R-Clare, at the close of Monday's hearing.

Donald Leonard, chairman of the Liquor Control Commission, said because a 1941 law clamped a ceiling of 550 on the number of licenses in the state, there is a large backlog of requests for licenses.

Recently, there were about 4,000 applications on file, Leonard said.

Drillers Attempt To Reach Miners 331 Feet Below

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Determined rescue workers pushed ahead today through fog and dampness with two drilling operations in efforts to reach three miners trapped more than 300 feet underground since last Tuesday. Concern grew for one of them.

Under glaring spotlights in the middle of the night, a 40-ton, electrically operated drilling rig, capable of boring a hole 48 inches in diameter, began operations aimed at opening a hole 24 inches in diameter so the men can be lifted to the surface.

A road about a quarter of a mile long had to be made by a bulldozer so the drilling apparatus could be moved to the scene.

One Man Isolated
Simultaneously, in a renewed effort to provide a lifeline to Louis Bova, 42, of Pottersville, rescuers resumed drilling a twin six-inch hole near the one through which contact was established Sunday night with the trapped men. Bova is separated from the other two by debris. He hasn't been heard from since Monday morning.

H.B. Charnbury, state secretary of mines, said he was quite concerned about Bova.

The large drill began operations at 3:45 a.m. with a 12½-inch bit. Plans were to enlarge the opening to 17½ inches and finally 24 inches.

Charnbury estimated that under the best conditions the 40-ton drill could dig 40 feet an hour. This means it would take a little more than eight hours to go 331 feet where the men are trapped. But one engineer estimated it could be as slow as 20 feet an hour.

In Good Spirits
Early this morning, David Fellin, 58, of Shepton, one of the trapped miners, suggested workers drill the large escape hole five feet west of the original.

But instead, the drilling began eight feet west of the original hole. Charnbury said officials made the decision to drill eight feet west of the original hole after talking to Fellin.

Engineers explained that if they drilled too close to the original hole it could block the smaller lifeline hole to Fellin, a part owner of the mine, and Henry Throne, 28, of Hazleton. They are together and are reported to be in good spirits.

The twin six-inch hole was begun Monday night but shortly before midnight drilling to Bova was halted at 90 feet because the noise of the drill was interfering with communications to Fellin and Throne.

Fellin, asked what he thought happened to Bova, replied: "I don't know. I guess he's on the other side."

Hole Misses
Bova's wife, Eva, 32, went to the mine scene Monday. She said: "No one could convince me he wasn't alive. I never gave up. This miracle I prayed for is coming true."

Rescue workers were foiled Monday night in trying to establish a separate lifeline hole to Bova when the drill bit went past the depth where Bova was believed to be. Within an hour they started again at a new location and got to 90 feet before stopping temporarily. It took 22 hours to drill the original six-inch hole to Fellin and Throne.

Fellin and Throne cautioned rescuers to drill slowly to prevent a recurrence of the cave-in.

The mood at the mine, located at Shepton, about nine miles from Hazleton and 80 miles north-west of Philadelphia, differed from that of Sunday night when it was discovered the miners were still alive.

The jubilation that had been there Sunday night and early Monday was gone. In its place was a grim determination to get the men out safely. Relatives and friends continued their vigil.

Fellin said: "If you don't believe in God, go through a thing like this. Then you'll know there's a God."

Visits To Dams Would Take On Political Angle

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is considering a swing into the West that would give him a chance to look over efforts to preserve natural resources, natural wonders and wilderness areas — and to get some political exposure in advance of the 1964 campaign.

Under present planning, he would venture into Arizona, the home of Sen. Barry Goldwater, regarded as the top contender for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Ceremonies In October
Nothing has been settled, but the talk has reached the point that the White House is reported on reliable authority to have asked the Interior Department several weeks ago to outline a possible journey. And some advance work on a trip may be undertaken shortly.

The trip may be undertaken in October and might take Kennedy by plane, train and auto from Grand Coulee Dam in the Northwest to Glen Canyon Dam in Arizona. Ceremonies are on tap at each place in October.

Kennedy recently canceled an engagement to appear Oct. 7 in Atlanta at the celebration of the 75th anniversary of Georgia Tech.

The White House gave a rather vague explanation that Kennedy might be busy elsewhere at that time.

Looking For Votes?
The trip, one administration official said, would be "oriented primarily to conservation." It might last four or five days.

And while conservation might get the obvious emphasis, Kennedy still would be showing up in an area where he would hope to do better politically next year than he did in 1960, particularly since some Southern Democrats are saying the President might not fare so well in their realm.

Kennedy carried Nevada, New Mexico and Washington in 1960. He lost Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah and Wyoming.

Among the Western states, Kennedy carried only Nevada and New Mexico in 1960. He lost Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

Military Plane
Mishaps Kill 13

By The Associated Press
At least 11 U.S. servicemen and two civilians were killed in a rash of military aircraft accidents this week and last.

Two other fliers are missing, one believed lost at sea. The crashes also injured 17 persons and destroyed at least 15 aircraft.

Five of the accidents occurred Monday.
A pilot killed when his F100 jet crashed on a ranch near Clayton, N.M.

Two fliers killed when their jet went overboard in landing on the flight deck of the supercarrier Constellation, critically injuring three members of the deck crew.

Two civilians killed and a third injured when a jet drone plane veered off its runway at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., and crashed on a busy street as it was being landed by remote control.

Two airmen killed and a third missing in the collision of two Air Force B47 jet bombers on a training flight over Irwin, Iowa. Three other airmen were injured.

Also Monday, three U.S. Navy jets crashed after becoming lost in fog near the northwest coast of France. Two pilots ejected and parachuted safely.

But one of the abandoned planes slammed into a house at Plouarrec, France, injuring a couple and their 7-month old baby. The third pilot was picked up at sea miles off the Brittany coast. The planes were from the carrier Independence.

Time To Brush Up On Double-Talk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It's time again to brush up on our conversational skill with another lesson in double talk.

Double talk, you will recall, is one of the highest art forms of modern civilization.

It is the ability to say one thing clearly and convincingly—while actually you are thinking just the opposite.

Anyone today who says exactly what he means, and means exactly what he says, is hopelessly neanderthal or wildly eccentric.

To get along with the other fellow, you tell him what he wants to hear — and keep your honest opinions to yourself.

Truth is for polar bears; people can't stand the strain of it. They prefer the illusion of truth.

For those who haven't learned how to play the game, here are a few examples of double talk—followed, parenthetically, by literal translations:

"It's a lovely roast, but I think I've had plenty." (Cut me another piece, stupid, or are you trying to save it all for the dog?)

"Oh, here comes the waiter now with the bill. Shall we go dutch, Mabel?" (Pick up the check, you henna-haired Midas. You know I bought lunch the last time.)

"Yep, reverend, that was a real inspirational sermon. I got a lot out of it." (What the devil was he mumbling about, anyway?)

"What a cute kid! He's a spitting image of you, Bill." (What do you call him—slobbering Willie?)

"It's not just the money, boss. I feel I deserve a raise as a matter of principle." (It's the money.)

"Gee, Hortense, I could just sit and look at you all evening." (But how about a little action, baby? I'm slowly falling asleep.)

"It is now my pleasure to yield the floor to my esteemed colleague—" (Old blabbermouth always has to get his two cents worth in.)

"Well, I guess I will have just one more for the road, Bob. Make it light." (But at least wet the bottom of the glass this time. You pour liquor like it was priceless glue.)

"Please stop, Hector, or I'll scream." (Thank heavens, I've got laryngitis.)

"I think a little extra weight on a man makes him look more attractive." (But not when he already looks like a walrus.)

"Wonderful party. Where'd you find so many interesting people to invite?" (The zoo? The bowery? The city dump?)

Warn Residents Of Roof Hoax

State Police of the Stephenson Post today issued a warning to residents living in rural areas with regard to gypsies posing as roofing repairmen who made two attempts to bilk Menominee County residents in the past week.

Officers said that an elderly farm woman told them the gypsies came to her home and offered to repair a barn roof for her, stating that they were employed by a Menominee roofing contractor.

She said she told them to repair the roof, and that after two hours they had completed the work and asked for $45, far more than the work was worth. The woman told the men she had only $18, but they agreed to return the following day for the balance.

Once the men had gone she phoned the State Police and reported the incident.

Sometime later a Stephenson farmer phoned State Police and said the men had come to his farm and informed him that his wife had hired them to repair his roof. What made the farmer suspicious was that he wasn't married. He refused the offer.

State Police picked up the pair along the highway, but had to release them later as the woman said she wouldn't sign a complaint against them if they didn't demand payment of the remaining $27, and they actually hadn't managed to bilk the farmer.

The officers warned residents to beware of persons attempting to get roof repair work through a door-to-door canvass. The men apprehended Monday told officers they were gypsies from Shawano, Wis.

According to police the work done by the men is not first-class and they never give an estimate in advance of the work to be done. "You don't realize how much it's going to cost you until it's too late," they said.

Escanaban Fined For Contributing

Gene LaCrosse, 28, of 404 S. 19th St., was fined $50 plus court costs of $4.30 by Justice Dave Olive of Stephenson Monday after he pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of minors. Of the total fine $25 was suspended by the justice.

LaCrosse, who was arrested by Escanaba City Police for the Gladstone State Police Post, on a complaint issued by the Stephenson Post, was charged with giving beer to his teenage daughter and other minors. The incident occurred on July 27.

State Gains In Pulpwood Income, Big Timber Dips

A study of the economic importance of timber in the United States by the U. S. Forest Service comparing data of 1958 with that of 1954 shows Michigan still skidding in terms of old growth timber volume produced, but gaining in new forest production of pole size wood like pulpwood.

The stumpage value of U. S. timber cut in 1958 was valued at about $1 billion. The round products harvested from this stumpage were valued at point of local delivery at $2.7 billion and this was equal to about 14 per cent of the value of all farm crops harvested in the nation and about equal to the value of all the wheat harvested. Corn was the only farm crop which substantially exceeded timber products in terms of local market value.

The 1958 timber harvest increased in value nearly 25 times between the stump and delivery of the finished product to final consumers. Averaging to each $1 worth of stumpage cut, another $1.50 was added in harvesting, $3.85 in primary manufacture, $5.45 in secondary manufacturing, $7.60 in construction and $5.35 in transportation and marketing.

The figures are specially meaningful to the Upper Peninsula and help explain its economic lag because the area has always been one of extractive industry. Its forest is its greatest economic resource and it has shipped much of its wood to market without primary or secondary manufacture.

Values Added

The pulpwood produced in the Upper Peninsula is a prime example of the process by which the U. P. has enriched Wisconsin more than it has itself. It ships more pulpwood to Wisconsin for manufacture into pulp, paper, board and other products than it processes itself, so it gets only the stumpage fee (where ownership is not absentee and most in the U. P. is absentee) and the timber harvesting income.

After stumpage value, harvesting is the lowest value added by manufacture in the federal statistics, and this is the chief income of the Upper Peninsula from its forests. Marketing is a problem for U. P. wood growers and they are glad to have the Wisconsin market and wish it would take more of their wood.

But if the U. P. could achieve the value added by manufacture as it does in the mills of Kimberly Clark at Munising, Marathon Division of American Can Co. and Scott Paper Co. at Menominee, Celotex at L'Anse, Escanaba Division of Mead Corp. and Manistique Pulp & Paper Co. for more of its wood harvest, thousands of new U. P. jobs would be created. And the economy would be enhanced by millions of dollars of income yearly.

The report says employment attributed to timber industry amounted to 3.3 million people in the U. S. in 1958, but only about 3 per cent of this was attributed to forest management. The rest of wood industries employment was: 10 per cent in harvesting; 15 per cent in primary manufacture (pulp, paper, lumber, dimension stock, etc.); 24 per cent in secondary manufacturing (furniture, woodboards, plastics); 25 per cent in construction and 23 per cent in transportation and marketing.

Jobs Provided

For each worker employed in forest management another 4 were employed in harvesting and 6 more in primary manufacturing. An additional 30 were employed in timber-based secondary manufacturing, construction and transportation and marketing activities.

In 1958 the volume of timber cut in the U. S. from domestic forests amounted to 10 billion cubic feet, about 4 pct. below the 10.4 billion cubic feet produced in 1954. About 46 pct. came from the South, another 39 pct. from the Pacific Coast and West, and 15 per cent from the north-eastern third of the nation including Michigan. From 1954 the north's portion was unchanged, but there was increasing dependence upon the old growth softwood forests of the West.

Michigan had an estimated total value of timber products harvested at local point of delivery in 1958 of $48.7 million compared with $57.8 million in 1954. The sawlog part of this total slipped from $18.7 million to $13.9 million; veneer logs from $3.1 million to $1.2 million.

But the new forest production of pulping woods rose from $13.3 million in 1954 to $14.4 million in 1958, so that it exceeded the value of sawlogs harvested.

Fair Premiums Total $26,652

The U. P. State Fair's expenditures for premiums this year will total $26,652.84 above the total disbursed to exhibitors last year, Ray LaPorte, Fair secretary-manager, said today.

The increase had at first been estimated at approximately $1,500 or $1,600 more than last year, but the higher figure was revealed in a further examination of expenditures.

Last year the premiums totaled $24,022.55 and this year the total will be $26,652.39 or $2,629.84 higher.

The larger number of exhibits was in the 4-H Club boys' and girls' work department, and in the dairy and beef departments, said LaPorte.

The U. P. State Fair budget provides $25,000 for premiums. Because the premiums exceeded that amount this year, the Fair's operations will be on an "austerity budget" to the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1964.

On the basis of this year's experience at the Fair, however, the Legislature will be asked by the Fair Board for increase in premiums for the Fair next year.

Benny Is Fan Of Gracie Allen

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jack Benny, the acknowledged master of timing, insists that the performer without peer in this subtle art is Gracie Allen.

Timing is the ability to do the right thing at the right moment, the quality that tells Benny, for example, exactly how long to pause before turning an exasperated face to the audience and exclaiming, "Well!"

Gracie Allen has retired but those old Burns and Allen television shows are still around and Benny is their ardent fan.

"Nobody has Gracie's timing," Benny said, "and when I see those shows today I'm constantly more amazed by it. Remember, she had one of the toughest jobs in the world, doing non-sequitur lines. They came right out of the blue, and there was nothing in the feed lines that could cue her responses. They just didn't make sense. It was a terrible job to handle them. But she'd Ooh and Ah around and come up with them exactly right."

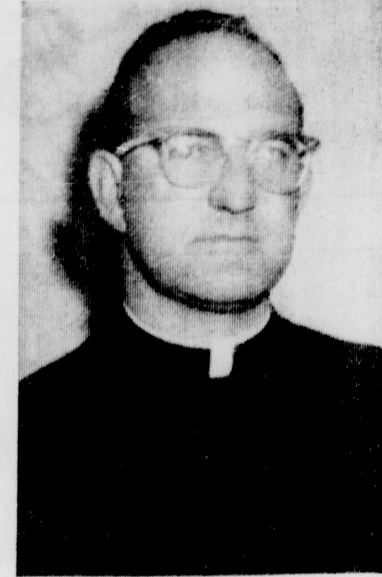

Jack is deep in plans for his 14th season in network television, dismayed but not downhearted because of a CBS decision to separate him from "The Red Skelton Show," which preceded him last year. This year, "Petitecat Junction," a new comedy series, will be slipped between the established Tuesday night shows.

"I don't understand it," Benny complained. "It was a good set-up and we helped each other. But all they seem to care about today is insuring the success of new shows. Now I'm opposite the last part of two hour-long shows and in back of an untied one."

Isn't he tired of playing the same vain, miserly character? "Oh, it never gets boring," he protested. "The character is a composite of faults you'll find in everybody—or at least in everybody's family."

"And besides," he added, "there's no limit to the cheap jokes. And we can do stinky jokes without even gag lines, because the character has been established for so long."

It's middle-age when the thing that makes a man tick needs considerable winding.

Rev. James Gauthier

Rev. Gauthier Assigned Here

Rev. Lawrence Gauthier, who for the past year has been the principal of Loretto Catholic Central High School at Sault Ste. Marie, has assumed his new duties as superintendent of Holy Name High School.

The appointment was made by The Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Marquette.

Father Gauthier, a native of Marquette, will take over the duties of Father Conrad Suda, business manager, and Father James Donnelly, spiritual director. Father Suda presently has a parish at Perronville. Father Donnelly has not received his new assignment.

During the past eight years, Rev. Gauthier has taught five years at Loretto Catholic Central High, spent two years in graduate work at Catholic University in Washington, D. C., and served as principal of Soo Loretto for the past year.

Father Gauthier's new duties will be to supervise the school program and serve as coordinator between the faculty and the Board of Pastors.

Long Discusses Fisheries Goals

Goals of the Conservation Department in securing maximum production of fish in Michigan lakes and streams were discussed at the Escanaba Kiwanis Club meeting Monday by Clifford F. Long, district superintendent of fisheries for the department.

Along with the problem of boosting production, his department also aims to maintain desirable species of fish of desirable size, Long said, and to get a maximum harvest by avoiding waste, setting a limit on the sustainable yield, and providing for equal distribution. In this program the emphasis is on recreation.

Tools in the fisheries program include research, regulations, propagation in hatcheries, habitat improvement, and the public fishing site program. Studies are aimed at determining the reasons for the decline in fish production and taking steps to correct the situation. Long mentioned in this connection the heavy loss in walleyes, which have 300,000 eggs each but in a five-year cycle only about 30 fish survive for maturity. In response to a question, the speaker said that the age of a fish is determined by rings on the scales.

Pollution of water is a factor in fish propagation, and Long said that this trouble was noted in the lower portion of the Escanaba River, where fishermen report a decline in walleyes and a water taste that makes the fish unpalatable. Uses of water by ore plants and other industries is also taken into consideration in fish studies. High and low water levels are not considered too serious in the effect on fish, Long said.

The program Monday was arranged by Victor Nelson.

Autos Kill 108 Deer On Highways

One hundred and eight deer were killed by auto-deer collisions on Upper Peninsula highways in July, according to the Marquette Regional office of the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Of this total, 16 were killed in the Baraga District, 25 in the Crystal Falls District, 32 in the Escanaba District, and 35 in the Newberry District.

League Meeting Hears report On MUCC Boys Camp

The Bay de Noc Conservation League heard reports from two young men who had attended the Michigan United Conservation Club's Boys' Camp.

They are Mike Lapine and Pat Norton whose attendance at the camp was sponsored by the Conservation League as an annual project.

A moving picture on bear hunting was presented by James Walker, Conservation officer, who also gave information on the Department's gun safety program.

A discussion of picnic finances and a skeet range was held. Ray Norton, president of the Conservation League, conducted the meeting.

Zoning Change Is Sought To Permit Dormitory

A request for a zoning change to permit the establishment of a dormitory in a Residence A district in Escanaba will come before the planning Commission when it meets at the City Hall at 4 p.m. Thursday.

The request is made to the Commission by Richard LaFave of Escanaba, who seeks to use a large dwelling in the 300 block, S. 5th St., to house young people who will attend Bay de Noc Community College. Dormitories are not now permitted in Class A Residence zones.

Other business to come before the Planning Commission includes:

The hiring of a planning consultant for two days. It is proposed to employ Elmer Kreiger, Milwaukee, who in the past has been consulted by the city and originally aided the city in the preparation of its master plan.

Revision of precinct plat No. 5; the vacating of an alley in Block 4 of the City Center Addition No. 2; and a request to exchange land with the city are also on the agenda.

Pants Changer Landed In Jail

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Donald Merrill, 22, of Mount Pleasant, stepped out of his pants Monday, and right into a jail cell.

Merrill was convicted in Municipal Court of stealing a pair of pants from a local clothing store, leaving his old trousers behind in exchange. When he was arrested, police confiscated his pants as evidence.

Merrill pleaded guilty to the charges and was given a $20 fine and ordered to pay $6.10 court costs or go to jail for 15 days. Merrill couldn't pay the fine and went to jail.

Hiawatha Forest Flood Of Campers Double Capacity

Hiawatha National Forest campgrounds have had an increase in use this summer to an all-time record, says Sherwood Trotter, supervisor of the forest.

"It is particularly noticeable in the St. Ignace area," he said. "Second to that has been the heavy demand and occasional turnover of campers from the campgrounds adjacent to Forest Highway 13 in Delta, Schoolcraft and Alger counties."

"Many of the campers found the Upper Peninsula for the first time this year and they all say that they are coming back. We found many came from Ohio and Indiana, which rank behind Lower Michigan in supplying campers for our forests, but they're right in there."

"We think that undoubtedly the fine weather of this summer was a major factor in the increase."

"Fortunately our campgrounds had expanded in size to the point that almost everyone could find a place in which to camp."

"Two of the older campgrounds along I-75 (between St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie) were enlarged last year. Each now has over 50 camping sites, having been increased from 10 each last year."

Vacancies to North
"Since the middle of July they have been operating at capacity and neither camp is well signed on the highway yet; you almost have to be a detective to find them."

Local businesses adjacent to the camping areas have reported an overall increase in their summer business."

Trotter said that reports from the forest's campgrounds showed no clear concentration of campers in the eastern end of the forest adjacent to I-75 and the Sault Ste. Marie-St. Ignace funnel into Canada. There still is a serious shortage of camping facilities in the area between St. Ignace and Escanaba along U.S. 2.

Popular Camp Area
"We find people camped along the highway in this area every night," said Trotter. "On the other hand if you go up to M-28 west of the Sault there are campgrounds in the forest which have vacancies every night. Such places include Soldier's Lake, Monocle Lake and Three Lakes campgrounds.

"In the Forest Highway 13 area (more than 100 miles west of St. Ignace in the mid-Upper Peninsula) we are still having an overflow camper condition. We have lots of campgrounds there but not enough yet to accommodate all the people who want to camp there."

"We plan enlargement and rehabilitation of some of these campgrounds before next camping season."

"The Forest Service plans to continue the practice of furnishing space between each camping unit. Within each area there will be toilet facilities and water supply. Each individual camping site will have a parking spur approximately 40 feet long and 12 feet wide, a picnic table and a fire grate."

"We have found the general camper enjoys the distance between himself and his neighbor in our forest campgrounds. This also helps to protect the area from overuse. With this spacing the area maintains its natural characteristics."

Double Capacity
The Hiawatha National Forest has over 800,000 acres between Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie. Its formally designated and developed camping areas can handle about 3,500 people. This summer has accommodated about an equal number outside the developed areas nightly. There are many natural open areas which serve this use, but sanitation becomes a problem.

People who contact the local National Forest District ranger are referred from filled campgrounds to other available areas. "Most of them don't mind driving 75 miles to find a place," said Trotter.

"It's obvious to us," said Trotter "that the saturation point in need for campground expansion hasn't been reached. We intend to continue to construct facilities which will meet the public's demand and needs."

"One of our next phases will be the construction of more nature trails and hiking trails. We also hope to develop some of the rivers to make greater use of their canoeing potential. We feel that these works will aid the economics of the area by keeping people in the Upper Peninsula for a longer period of time."

Crash Kills 19

TOKYO (AP)—Wreckage of a Japanese airliner which disappeared Saturday with 19 Japanese aboard was located today on a mountain top on Hachijo Island, 100 miles south of Tokyo. National Police said all aboard had been killed.

Summer Trade Helping Nahma

NAHMA—The "under new management" sign has been hanging out here for a dozen years now, but this little Big Bay de Noc village is just as sleepy and picturesque as ever, reports the Detroit News.

Its main street is still split by a wide parkway, the fire ladders are still scattered about, the Sturgeon River still flows by, the nine-hole golf course is still in fine shape, and the swimming beach along Lake Michigan remains as popular as ever.

In fact, not much has changed here since 1951, when Nahma made headlines across the country.

Founded in 1853 as an Upper Peninsula sawmill town, Nahma was threatened with extinction in 1951, when the Bay de Noquette Lumber Co. decided to suspend its operation because of timber shortages and sell everything.

The town included the mill (once the largest in the U. P., capable of cutting 150,000 feet of lumber in a day), a hotel, clubhouse, a general store and 102 dwellings.

The American Playground Device Co., of Anderson, Ind., bought the 4,400-acre site for a quarter million dollars.

The new owners enlarged the mill's main production building and began making wooden parts for playground equipment, which is shipped to Anderson for final assembly.

The Nahma plant, employing 35 persons, manufactures parts of everything from swings and diving boards to seesaws, park benches and merry-go-rounds. Locally grown hardwood and West Coast fir go into the mill's products.

After 12 years of new ownership, there is still the single company-owned store, managed by Joe Sefcik, purchasing agent for the plant.

Few new residents have moved in, and the population has dwindled from 700 in 1951 to about 350 now, as the "oldtimers" hang on and most of the young people leave after completing high school.

The population decline has left nearly half the homes in town vacant, but some are being filled, thanks to a new company policy which permits the sale of houses. Some have gone to summer residents who move in from Lower Michigan and Wisconsin for the vacation months.

Nahma is at the tip of a point of land five miles south of U.S. 2, 35 miles east of Escanaba. Nahma has its own elementary and high schools and in the 1930s had a "backwoods university," a summer colony of artists and writers who worked for several years in company buildings.

Allies Maneuver

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin's 11,000-man Allied garrison moved into defense positions throughout the Western half of the divided city today on a practice alert.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the test was ordered to evaluate the mobility of the Allied units and their ability to react to various situations.

Wells Park Has Record Visitation Of Over 72,700

John W. Wells State Park at Cedar River had 72,765 visitors up to Sunday, reports Manager Arthur Lauren, an all time record for usage.

Last year to Aug. 19, for a comparable period, there were 63,976 visitors to the 974-acre woodland park.

Lauren said that the number of camping permits issued up to Sunday was 3,232, compared with 2,790 for the same period last year. The camps are averaging more than 4 persons and on several occasions this summer there have been so many camping parties in the park that a few have had to be turned away. The park has a campground with 148 sites and 146 has been the heaviest usage permitted, because of some sandy areas.

Some of the tourist camp users stay for the full 15 days permitted in the June 15-Labor Day period and a few use the 45 day allowance for periods will spill over at either end of the season. First use of the campground by tourists this year was in April, the earliest ever, and there will be campers in the park into October, said Lauren, but the big volume will disappear with Labor Day and reopening of schools.

The park's usage dropped when the user permit was instituted three years ago but has rebuilt steadily toward the old peak volume and is expected to top it this year with acceptance of the user fee.

Campers have been charged for use of the camp ground since 1950. The fees started at 50 cents and is now $1.50 a night.

New Soo Bridge Has 500,000th Vehicle Monday

SAULT STE MARIE (TP)—The 500,000th vehicle crossed the International Bridge Monday between this northern Michigan city and its Canadian twin in Ontario.

Officials picked two cars for special honors—one heading north into Canada and one going south into the United States. Southbound were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Barrett, of Sault Ste Marie, Ont., who were heading for Green Bay, Wis. They were honored by Mayor Robert Jacobson of the Michigan city.

Northbound were Mr. and Mrs. John Zolinsky of Owosso, who were presented certificates and pictures by William Hog, a Canadian official of the International Bridge Authority.

Plant Brings Jobs To Little Armada

ARMADA (AP)—Armada, pop. 1,200, is no longer disturbed over its job losses.

Shortly, Chelsea Toy Products, Inc., of Chelsea will open a plant here which it says ultimately will employ 200 persons on a $10,000 weekly payroll—more jobs than Armada can fill.

Neighboring areas will be counted on to help.

Last spring Armada, a Macomb county village, suffered an economic blow when a wood products company left for another city and 40 jobs were lost.

First Peninsula Trawler

Change is often subtle, sneaking up on us so that all of a sudden we realize that our way of life has changed. But it hasn't been that way in the commercial fishing business. It once supported thousands of persons in the Upper Peninsula and the number has dwindled to hundreds and even these are often forced to seek income outside the trade to maintain themselves.

The deterioration of the Great Lakes fishery has been a loss of one of the world's greatest food resources. It is not all lost, of course, but the once great production of its finest food fishes has dwindled to a fraction of its former volume. Some species have virtually disappeared.

The volume of fish production from the Great Lakes has remained fairly high, but its character has changed, with trashy fish replacing famed food species. The problem of getting the Great Lakes fisheries under scientific management so that its enormous potential for food production can be realized again is a huge one, and it is complicated by many things. These include:

1. These are international as well as interstate waters so the efforts of many agencies must be coordinated.
2. New influences like the seaway can upset the ecology of the lakes by introducing new fish species and pathogens that upset the balance of predation, disease, feed and other elements of the fishery.
3. Pollution of the lakes by industrial wastes and other effluents that are turning Lake Erie into a "dead lake" (cesspool) and which threaten the other lakes as well.

As the fishery declined commercial fishermen quit the business. Those who have hung on, hoping for an upturn in their fortunes, have opposed the introduction of one of the new methods of lake fishing which has been a standard practice on the oceans for many years — trawling. This fishing is done by dragging a big bag net behind a fishing vessel at relatively high speed and then reeling it in with its pouched catch.

When table fish could be caught in sufficient numbers, our commercial fishermen could survive on the catches made in gillnets and pound nets, which were emptied by their relatively small boats. This has been our traditional Great Lakes fishing.

Under these conditions trash fish like the alewife have become very abundant in the lakes. The alewife is a small fish. It is edible, but when filleted for human use is reduced to a non-commercial gaggle of skin, so it is harvested only for animal use — for the feeding of mink on fur ranches and for the making of catfood and such uses.

This market is low priced, in the range of a few cents a pound, so conventional fishing methods cannot be used because they would not permit a profit and would probably incur a loss on the operation. But with great sweeps of an otter trawl with a 60-foot-wide mouth, enough fish can be caught to market them profitably at low prices.

This has been going on in Lower Lake Michigan water and the Michigan Conservation Department has just given its first permit for an experimental trawl season by the Ruleau Brothers, Bob and Louis of Cedar River. They will be operating this fall in northern Green Bay and Bays de Noc waters with a trawler, fishing for chubs, herring, smelt and alewife. Their catch will be supervised daily by a Conservation Department representative and is expected to be chiefly alewife and nearly all for animal food.

The Ruleau Brothers are fifth generation members of a famed Green Bay West Shore fishing family. They are trying trawling in an effort to stay in the fishing business. Their fellow commercial fishermen don't like trawl fishing at all; it's a serious threat to conventional fishing as they view it. The large investment needed for trawling is an impediment to general entry of fishermen into this type of fishing and besides there's no need for a lot of trawls.

The Federal Fish & Wildlife Service has been doing experimental trawling in Green Bay and upper Lake Michigan to determine the feasibility of it. It is concerned with management of the fishery for improvement. The public must be concerned with this too. Actually this is in the fishermen's interest, too, but when you've taken as much buffeting as commercial fishermen have on the lakes, all the weather ahead probably looks stormy.

Capitalizing History

Sault Ste. Marie Evening News

Sault Ste. Marie is being visited this year by more people than anyone can recall in living memory.

The new International Bridge, instead of being a funnel into Canada, this summer has converted the Sault into a tourist "boom" town. Traffic on all streets is heavy. The locks are crowded with interested and impressed visitors. A new tour train is doing a thriving business showing visitors—and townspeople as well—sights of historic interest. Next year, when Interstate 75 is fully operational, business should be even better.

We know our locks and our waterfront are a natural magnet. But many residents, projecting this wonderful natural attraction of ours into the future, are convinced we need even more to bring people here and what's more important, to hold them.

The success of the restored Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island and Michilimackinac at Mackinaw City as truly educational places of interest, points out strongly that Sault Ste. Marie should make a determined effort in restoring its historical sites and natural heritage.

The Evening News suggests that Fort Brady be restored as a historic monument at its original location, the city block area now occupied by the former Sault Ste. Marie post office.

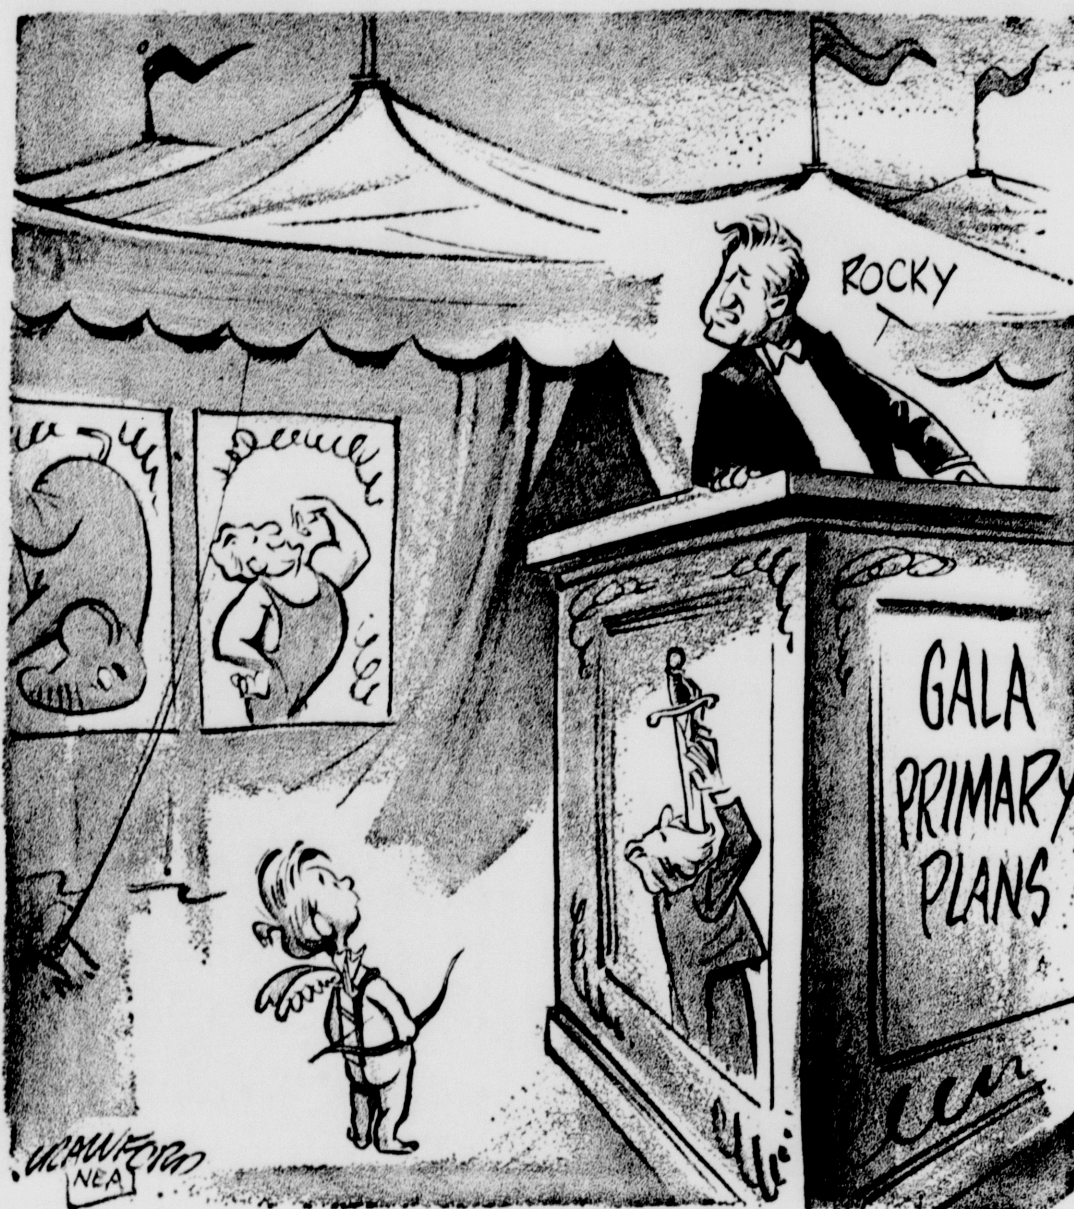

We suggest that the big stone federal building be razed; that sufficient funds be realized through floating of self-liquidating bonds; that a commission similar to the Mackinac Island Park Commission be created to actuate these plans; and that the area be restored as nearly as possible to be a replica of the old Fort Brady as it may have appeared between 1822 and about 1900, when it was moved to the hill location.

The program should also include complete restoration of the John Johnston home, the Henry Rowe Schoolcraft home and the Bishop Frederic Baraga home, as well as other historic sites which may be brought to light during planning stages.

We feel that planning and putting into action a program, such as has been suggested, will aid materially in developing local interest in our own rich history.

Such a program will also provide a lasting monument to our past and help give real meaning of the importance of the area to the thousands of people who come here to see what we have to offer.

"Go Away Boy, You Bother Me!"

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (N E A) — Warning flags already are being run up against hope that the United States somehow will make big gains from the cold war between Soviet Russia and Red China.

"This isn't a permanent split," cautions former Rep. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., who still rates as one of the few remaining "old China hands" around Washington. This is just a rift between a couple of Communist theoreticians, Dr. Judd insists. It will be decided by the accepted principles of Marxist practice.

"When it is all over, somebody will have to walk the plank," says Judd. "It may be Mao or it may be Khrushchev."

"Whoever it is, the Communist Party will still remain exactly what it always has been. For under the theory of 'democratic centralism,' the party can never be wrong. Only individual members can be wrong."

Sizing up the two top antagonists in this rift, Judd points out that many Communist cells around the world have never accepted Khrushchev's policy of de-Stalinization. Mao may have more support than he is credited with.

What Khrushchev is doing, therefore, in his test ban treaty and his proposals for a non-aggression pact with the West is to protect his rear while he wages ideological war on his eastern front.

"This is my great fear," warns Judd. "Remember that less than a year ago, Khrushchev could have destroyed the United States from Cuba. There can be no peace till communism itself fails."

"We can never relax until Khrushchev takes steps that will show he is genuinely interested in permanent world peace."

Four acts that would show this intent are listed as:

- End colonization in eastern Europe as Russia now wants Portugal to end its colonization in Africa.
- Modify Communist doctrine on world domination and concentrate on better living for Russian people.
- Completely withdraw Russian support of Cuba.
- Settle the Berlin question by allowing reunification of Germany under free, democratic elections.

Job Training Is Big U.S. Problem

Financing the training of the millions of Americans who will enter or re-enter the labor market in the 1960's is a challenge to our beliefs and values, Benjamin C. Willis told the American Vocational Association's convention in Milwaukee recently.

Willis, chairman of the president's panel of consultants on vocational education, said:

"If the school is to educate a whole population, the school program must accommodate the whole population to be served. Unless we are to accept the concept of class society with an intellectual elite and a mass of uneducated, we must meet the needs of all youth."

"The final challenge within education is the challenge of our beliefs and values. Do we want what we need enough to pay for it? Do we really believe in the right of every child to maximum development?"

"Or do we want to develop a few children, and waste others? Do we really believe in the worth and dignity of each and every individual?"

Willis, who is general superintendent of Chicago's public schools, made his plea in behalf of recommendations of the president's panel. They called for legislation to provide $400 million for stepping up what the panel considered a lagging vocational education program in the face of increasing pressures.

Among the pressures he reviewed were the population increase, the trend toward urbanization, scientific and technological advances and tensions brought by possible permanent unemployment.

He also reviewed the panel's findings on the expected increase in the labor force that will need special training or retraining. These include the 21 million Americans who will enter the job market for the first time in the 1960's.

More than two million jobs will be lost in the next decade because of technological advances and improved productivity, Willis said. The job decrease will be at the levels requiring little education. The job increase will be at levels that require scientific and engineering training or other advanced education.

"If education in general and vocational education in particular are national assets compounding the country's wealth," Willis said, "then support of vocational education is a national responsibility and national support is inevitable because it is logical."

"It is true that present methods of supporting education, such as local real estate taxes, are fast reaching the limit of the possible. This is usually given as a main reason to justify federal support. It is good as far as it goes but it does not go far enough."

"There are those who fear federal control because they equate it with federal support. This concern is useful since from it can come wisdom in the drafting and interpreting of legislation."

"It is, however, a concern which should not obstruct or flatly reject good legislation. In effect, absence of federal support is by negation federal control of opportunity."

The Doctor Says:

Swabbing Hurts Throat

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—For the last several months my throat has been dry. I have used camphor to swab my throat for relief. Is camphor injurious to the throat?

A—Dryness of the throat may be due to chronic irritation from a postnasal drip. If this is present it should be treated. Camphor will not harm the throat but the mechanical effect of passing a mop or swab of cotton over the throat will serve to aggravate the condition. Why not use the camphor (or eucalyptus or benzoin) in a steam vaporizer and inhale the steam?

Smoking should be avoided. Drinking plenty of water and sucking peppermint lozenges will help but medicated lozenges and candy that contains glycerin should not be used. It is also important to avoid stress or excessive nervous tension.

Q—My menstrual periods have always come every 28 to 30 days but in the last three months the cycles were 36 days, then 32 days, then 22 days. What would cause this irregularity?

A—Irrregularity of the menstrual periods is usually due to some mild disturbance in the glands of internal secretion. If your thyroid activity is lower than normal, you may need to take thyroid extract. This would then re-establish regularity. If your thyroid is not at fault, your doctor may want to try one of the estrogen preparations (ovarian hormones).

Q—I have heard of people having a craving for such things as plaster or clay but I have a different problem. I am not pregnant but I can't leave chewing gum alone. I chew the sugar out of it then eat the rest by stretching it over my tongue and swallowing it by threads. Will it do any harm to continue this habit?

A—Many different substances, not ordinarily considered to be food, are eaten compulsively. Some people who have these appetites are suffering from anemia, glandular disorders or some dietary deficiency. In others the cause must be sought in some deep-seated emotional disturbance. In most instances the digestive tract tolerates these substances if they are not actually poisonous. Swallowing gum is probably as harmless an idiosyncrasy as you could ask for.

Q—I have a blood pressure of about 200 most of the time. I feel depressed in the mornings and always have a headache when I get out of bed but as the day goes on I feel better. Is my high blood pressure the cause of these symptoms?

A—It is possible to have a very high blood pressure and not be aware of any symptoms at all. Since persons with high blood pressure are often overly tense they frequently have a morning headache which is more likely to be caused by their nervous tension than by their blood pressure. Such drugs as reserpine (obtainable only on prescription) accomplish both a lowering of the blood pressure and a lessening of nervous tension.

Bohn Aluminum Merger Voted

DETROIT (AP) — Stockholders in the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corp. voted today to merge the company with the Universal American Corp. of New York. Universal American, a manufacturer of tools and metal products, already owns 58.1 per cent of Bohn stock.

Under the plan, Universal American will be the surviving firm. Bohn will operate as a division of Universal with no immediate change in plants or personnel.

Universal American will acquire the remainder of Bohn stock by giving one share of its stock, and one share of a new preferred stock, for each share of Bohn common.

One small shareholder, Lewis Tilbert, of New York, objected to the merger today, charging that Bohn management personnel had received $40 per share for their common stock from Universal American, but that other Bohn stockholders had only been offered $37.50.

He also noted that because Universal American is a Delaware-chartered firm, shareholders will not have cumulative voting rights.

Trout Time Ends Sept. 8 But 'Bows, Browns Legal

The general trout fishing season will soon come to an end — on Sept. 8 — but dedicated trout anglers will be able to fish for browns and rainbows on dozens of Upper Peninsula waters throughout September, October and November.

Waters which will remain open for rainbow and brown trout fishing during the extended fall season are found in 14 of the 15 Upper Peninsula counties (Menominee County is the lone exception).

Eight new waters have been added this year to the list of those in which fall fishing is permitted for the two species of trout. The waters opened for the first time this year are Alice Lake, Lost (Laws) Lake and the Falls River down from U.S. 41, all in Baraga County; Plymouth Lake, Taps Lake and Maple Creek down from the bridge, all in Gogebic County; Frank Lake in Lapeere County and the East Sleeping River down from the railroad trestle in Ontonagon County.

Fall Waters
Fishermen interested in fall trout angling might want to clip and save the following list of other waters open through November:

Alger County - Forest Lake power dam impoundment, Grand Sable Lake, Miners River down from the falls, North Shoe Lake, Rock River down from the Soo Line bridge, Sand River down from the west line of Alger County and Sucker River down from Deer Truck Trail.
Baraga - Huron River down from Big Eric's Bridge, Ravine River down from the lamprey weir, Silver River down from Silver Falls and Slate River down from Slate Falls.

Chippewa - Highbank Lake, Halfaday Creek from Lake Shore Drive to the mouth, Pendilla Creek down from the first concrete dam, Pine River down from the M-48 bridge and the power canal of the St. Mary's River.
Delta - Gooseneck Lake.
Dickinson - Bass Lake, Hamilton Lake, Lake Louise, Lake Mary and Norway Lake.
Gogebic - Beaton's Lake, Black River down from Rainbow Falls, Big Carp River down from falls, Crooked Lake, Little Carp River down from Traders Falls, Grass Lake, Moon Lake, Orchard Lake and Presque Isle River down from Manabego Falls.

Copper Country
Houghton - Bear Creek from bridge between Sections 23 and 24, T56N, R34W, down to mouth, Clear Lake, Crystal Lake, Elm River down from east line of Section 30, T54N, R36W, South Branch of Elm River from east line of Section 30, T54N, R36W, down to mouth, Emily Lake, Gravelier River down from mouth of Deer Creek, McGunns Creek from old log bridge to mouth, Salmon Trout River down from Redridge dam and Big Traverse River.

Iron - Golden Lake, Hagerman Lake, Hannah Webb Lake, Otawa Lake, Stager Lake and Sunset Lake.
Keeweenaw - Big Betsy River from north line of Section 36, T57N, R30W, to mouth, Eagle River downstream from dam in village of Eagle River, Fanny Hooe Creek down from Lake Fanny Hooe, Gratiot River from bridge on blacktop road between Sections 19 and 20, T57N, R32W, down to mouth, Medora Lake, Lake Fanny Hooe, Morrison Creek from falls downstream to mouth, Tobacco River from mouth to road ridge in Section 20, T56N, R30W, and Big Traverse River down from bridge on Gay-Lake Linden road.

Newberry Area

Luce - Bass Lake, Belle Lake, Camp Eight Lake, North Manistique Lake, Perch Lake, Pretty Lake, Tank Lake and Two-Hearted River down from red and green bridge.

Mackinac - Black River down from bridge on Section 13, T43N, R9W, Carp River down from Plat Lake outlet and Pine River, Marquette - Angeline Lake, Brooky Lake, Carp River down from a point 1,000 feet above mouth, Chocoley River down from M-28, Hoist and McClure storage basins of Dead River, Huron River down from Marquette-Baraga County line, Iron River, Johnson Lake, Michigan Lake, Nash Lake, Silver Lake and Forrestville Basins, Sporley Lake, Twin Lake and Witch Lake.

Ontonagon - Courtney Lake, Firesteel River down from bridge in Section 27, T52N, R38W, to mouth, Big Iron River down from falls, Little Iron River down from south line of Section 23, T51N, R42W, Misery River from 100 feet below lamprey barrier to mouth, Ontonagon River down from junction of East and Middle Branches, Middle Branch of the Ontonagon River down from Agate Falls, West Branch of the Ontonagon River down from Victoria Dam, Tanlund Lake and Union River down from Nonesuch Bridge.

Aspens Cinderella Trees Of Michigan's Forestry

By JEAN WORTH

There is not in the literature of Michigan a book like "Aspens," just published by the University of Michigan Press ($7.50, 272 pages) on paper approximately 50 per cent aspen content. And there can be few books in American literature like it.

It is a book about two species of aspen trees that grow in the Lake States—Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota—and it is unprecedented in its scope of treatment, from the aspen of history and superstition to today's "weed" tree that became a forest Cinderella so much esteemed com-mercially that there is industrial concern about its perpetuation.

Aspens stood in the pine forests that the first white men found in Michigan, as tall and as old as the pines, but it was after the great logging and the fires that followed it that great stands of aspen developed in Michigan.

The authors of "Aspens," Dr. Samuel A. Graham, professor emeritus of economic zoology at the University of Michigan, Dr. Casey E. Westell, Jr., and Dr. Robert P. Harrison, tell what technology can do to the value of a tree. Until recent years aspens were looked upon as forest weeds of little value. There was some use of aspens from earliest settlement, but only a small fraction of the available supply was used. By 1909 more than 245,000 cords of "poplar" was used in the nation, most of it for book and magazine paper.

Usage Increases

Shortly after World War I a Cloquet, Minn., mill made white paper from aspen and since then the increase in use of this wood for pulping in the Lake States has been spectacular. From fewer than 100,000 cords used in 1936, the harvest jumped to nearly 1,500,000 cords in 1961, with Michigan leading in production with 560,000 cords, Wisconsin contributing 530,000 and Minnesota 368,000.

In 1949 American Box Board Co. converted from straw to aspen in manufacture of paper and a huge aspen market opened in Lower Michigan. Almost overnight a wood that had been of low value or worthless became a valuable commodity. Foresters at first thought that there was no danger of future shortage of aspen, but "Aspens" authors say it isn't so, although aspens cover more than 2 million acres in the Lower Peninsula alone.

The cut of aspen in the Lower Peninsula has grown from 80,000 cords in 1949 to a volume expected to reach 600,000 cords in this decade. The authors suggest that this new income can be greatly augmented by forest management using new knowledge. They suggest that by establishing desirable strains of aspen the productivity of stands can be doubled and probably tripled.

"We hope soon to see deer populations regulated in the interests of both the deer herd and the forests," say the authors hopefully.

Poplar Family

All aspens are poplars, but all poplars aren't called aspens. Besides the trembling aspen and bigtooth aspen with which the book deals, Michigan's poplars are the cottonwood and the balsam of gilead, which loggers call "balm." The wood of bigtooth and trembling aspen is identical, but the trees differ considerably. The bark of the bigtooth is yellow and its leaves are larger. Both trees reproduce from seed and by root suckers. When aspens are cut or killed by fire their roots send up suckers prolifically to start a new stand, as many as 40,000 to 60,000 an acre. These suckers are a chief deer feed in Michigan although not the most highly preferred food. When deer overbrowse a stand repeatedly it is killed.

When established, aspen stands can be perpetuated indefinitely by suckering following fire, but in the absence of fire, balsams, spruce, cedar, possibly white pine and eventually maples and hemlocks would replace them. Foresters value the once despised aspen above white pine now because it is so fast growing and easily marketable, but forest management will be necessary to perpetuate it and keep out red maple and other lower value trees.

DRAMA FOR CITY DIVISIONS

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dramatic details are used on many of the city's vehicles to illustrate their assignment.

Cleveland uses St. George slaying a dragon for the sewage disposal division; the Norse god Thor for the light and power branch, and a "big hand" for the water department, for example. Law director Bronis J. Klementowicz ruled recently that such vehicles do not also have to be lettered with the city's name, remarking: "We don't want to make the city cars look like billboards."

Kennedy Grandma And 65 Children Sit For Picture

BOSTON (AP) — A little old lady in a blue and white print dress sat for a photograph Sunday with ten lively great-grandchildren.

The lady has sharp twinkling brown eyes and she will be 98 years old on Halloween.

She has 38 great-grandchildren and 27 grandchildren, one of whom is the President of the United States.

"Say, what's going on here?" Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald exclaimed as mothers and children trooped to her upstairs room where she sat in an easy chair in the sunlight.

"We just want to get a picture of you with the children, Grandma," one of the four mothers explained.

Since the children ranged down to three months the mothers held a dress rehearsal downstairs first. Older children were told where to sit in advance.

The children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, are President Kennedy's "Uncle Tom and Aunt Bunny" as signed on a photograph of the chief executive in the dining room of the large, comfortable home in the Dorchester section of Boston.

President Kennedy last visited his grandmother in November 1962, when he came to Boston to vote. She keeps close tabs on grandson Jack by television.

In Boston over a half century ago, a schoolboy named Joe Kennedy was awarded a prize by Mayor "Honey Fitz" Fitzgerald for his baseball batting skill. Joe reached for the prize but his eyes were on the mayor's pretty daughter, Rose. He married her in 1914.

Assateague Island, Md., is probably the largest undeveloped seashore between Cape Cod and Cape Hatteras, N. C.

Conifer Swamp Harvest Guided

How should timber be harvested from swamplands to assure replacement by good stands of coniferous reproduction?

This is the subject of a report published by the Lake States Forest Experiment Station in St. Paul, "Cutting Methods in Mixed Conifer Swamps, Upper Michigan," prepared by Research Forester John W. Benzie as result of experiments at the Station's field office in Marquette.

Mixed conifer swamps presently occupy about 2-one-third million acres in the Lake States. Aggressive, low-value hardwoods tend to take over after cutting, reducing the area occupied by conifers and lowering the value of the succeeding stand.

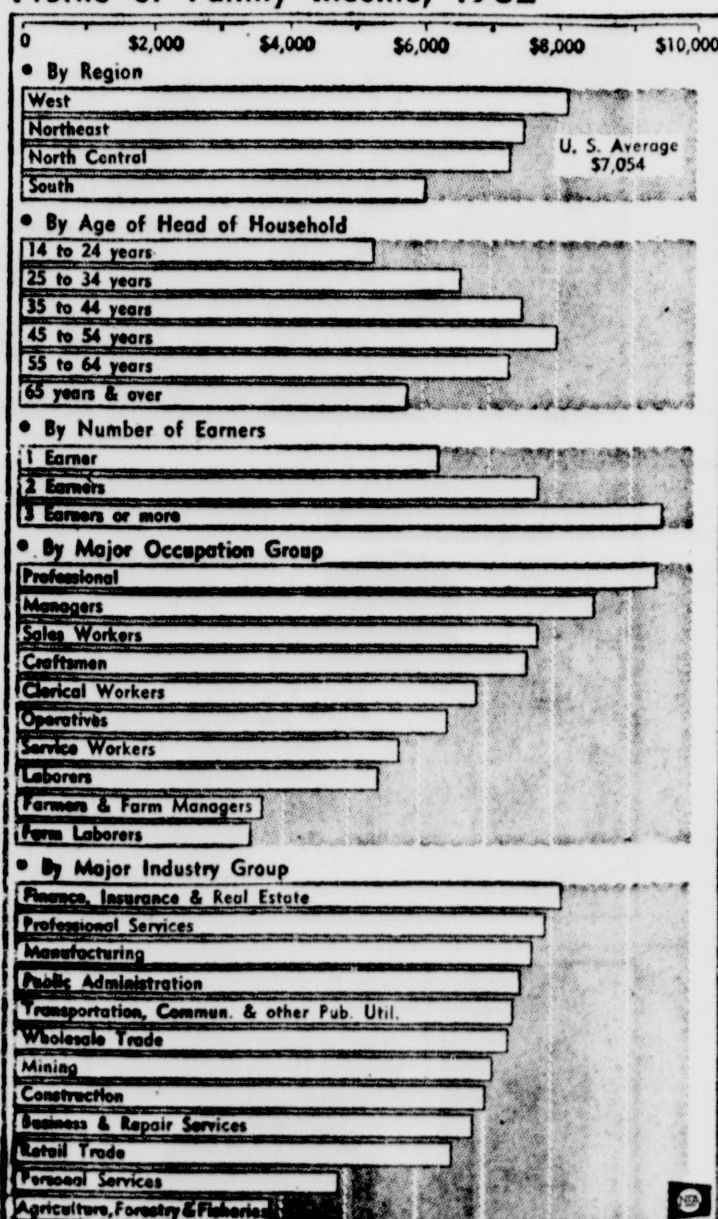

The report says that conifers come in and develop best, and competing hardwoods poorest, when the mature trees are clear-cut in narrow strips and small blocks. Strips are more advantageous in a uniform stand, but clear-cut blocks work best in many stands where natural mortality or past stand treatment has created a number of age classes in irregular patches.

The strips or blocks should be narrow so that they can be seeded in by surrounding seed trees. Since a northerly exposure is most favorable for swamp conifer regeneration, strips should extend east to west, and subsequent cutting for both strips and blocks should progress from north to south in each stand.

In the mixed swamp conifers some species reach maturity at a much earlier age than others. Thus a compromise must be made between harvesting the short-lived balsam fir before losses become excessive and keeping the longer lived spruce and cedar through their most productive growth period. A rotation age of 80 years has been suggested for this mixture.

A copy of the report may be obtained by writing to the Director, Lake States Forest Experiment Station, St. Paul Campus, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1, Minn., and asking for U. S. Forest Service Research Paper LS-4. The Station is one of 10 federal forest experiment stations maintained by the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Profile of Family Income, 1962

U. S. average family income, as shown in white square, top right, Newschart above, refers to the median (midpoint) income in survey of families whose head of household was a year-round, full-time worker. Family income as shown by major occupation and by major industry is based on a different sampling, whose average income was $7,076. Data: Census Bureau, as compiled by National Industrial Conference Board, Inc.

That Stubborn Kid Could Be Creative

Time was when a youngster who was messy, stubborn, rude and lazy was apt to be heckled at home and scolded in school.

But this is the new age of research. And research says the messy, stubborn, rude and lazy youngsters may be just the type the nation needs. He may be creative.

Look at it this way, says the researchers: what you would normally think of as messy, stubborn, rude and lazy may not be MSRL at all to the youngster involved. In fact, to him MSRL may be a higher type of order, logic, courtesy, and activity.

It's quite possible, they say, that the creative youngster may actually need to be MSRL in order to be creative. It may be tough on parents and teachers but the creative youngster might need a certain amount of mess around him if he's to delve deeply into the things that fascinate him. And his rudeness may mean he's thinking, and therefore inattentive to the social amenities. And thinking does not have to be done at a school desk. The brain can work while the body is flat and the eyes are closed.

Stubborn And Creative

E. Paul Torrance of the University of Minnesota who has conducted extensive studies to determine creative characteristics of young children believes they prefer to learn not by authority, but in creative ways in which they can explore, manipulate, question, experiment, and test their ideas. He has also found that stubbornness—an indifference to the ideas of others—is one of the most pervasive characteristics of creativity. But parents — and teachers too—have demanded that children learn by authority and have tried to overcome stubbornness.

In a recent booklet published by two units of the National Education Association, Dr. Torrance reports the results of a survey in which more than 1,000 teachers listed characteristics they valued highly in their students.

Stubbornness came in 30th.

The Receptive Type

"From the results," he says, "it would appear that it is more important to teachers in the United States that their pupils be courteous, do their work on time, be energetic and visibly industrious, be popular and well liked by their peers, be receptive to the ideas of others, be well rounded, and be willing to accept the judgments of authorities than to be courageous." And parents think the same way, he says.

"Obviously, such a pattern of values is more likely," he concludes, "to produce a people ready for brainwashing than one able to resist it and to think creatively."

He suggests that teachers—and by implication parents — relax their authoritarian ways by making assignments which call for original work and by asking questions which call for original answers—not just the "right" answer. He says youngsters' unusual questions and ideas should not be dismissed out of hand. And their attempts to do things in a different way should not be stunted. This will not necessarily make for peace and quiet in the classroom—or in your home—but your youngster may have research on his side.

Ann Landers
Fresh Old Geezer

Dear Ann Landers: My girl friend and I found an ideal apartment near the store where we both work. The rent is reasonable and we love it here.

The other night when I plugged in the electric iron all the lights went out in the back part of the house. I knew I had blown a fuse. So I rapped on the landlord's door and asked him if he would help me out. He said I'd have to come down to the basement with him and hold the flashlight while he replaced the fuse.

Well, the old geezer made a pass at me. Can you imagine such a thing—with his own wife sitting upstairs in their living room! I told him if he ever tried anything funny again I'd brain him.

This morning there was a note in our mailbox saying the rent is going up $30 next month. We can't pay more and we hate to move. Please tell us what to do about this rotten situation.—WE LIKE IT HERE

Dear Here: Tell the old lecher you suspect his little note was all in fun, but that if he was serious you will happily discuss the increase with his wife.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a stenographer in a large office building. The other evening I was waiting for the bus in the rain and a nice gentleman whom I had seen dozens of times in the elevator came by and saw me standing there. He asked me if I lived north. When I said "Yes" he offered to drop me off. He told me his name but I was flustered and didn't get it.

I arrived home at the usual time and my mother saw me get out of the man's car. She asked who he was and I had to tell her I didn't know his name. She became furious and said no decent girl would allow herself to be but have never been able to do it.—CLARISSA

Dear Clarissa: Book-borrowers have an obligation to return books in the same condition they were in when borrowed. Next time you lend this woman a book let her know what is expected and make it clear that if she misses the mark she owes you a new book. This will probably put an end to the whole business—and that should be just dandy with you.

I feel they were off base and I'd like your opinion.—NO CHIP-PY
Dear No: This man was not a stranger. You knew his face and his place of employment. Nonetheless you should have gotten his name. Next time listen when you are spoken to, Girl.

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in your proclamation of "Borrowed Book Day." I am happy to report that it produced three books about which I had forgotten. And I returned one book myself. Now another problem pertaining to the same subject. I have a friend who borrows books and she does return them but in such disreputable condition that I have to throw them out.

She underlines in red pencil passages which she likes—folds over the pages (probably never heard of a book mark) and coffee cup circles appear here and there. The book jackets are invariably torn or missing.

Am I justified in asking this friend to replace the books she ruins? I've toyed with the idea Biggest candidate for the Escanaba Eskymo football team this fall is Steve Johnson, a 263 pound junior tackle who stands 6-feet 10 inches tall. On the other end of the list is Dick Rusha, a junior halfback who weighs 126 pounds and is 5-8.

Norway, Gladstone's opening football for on Aug. 31, has 15 lettermen back in the fold this fall, including nine regulars from last year's team that won one, tied one and lost six. Stand-outs expected to be among the best in the Menominee Range Conference this year are 225 pound tackle Steve Burr and speedy halfback Ernie Brumbaugh.

Willie Thomsen, a four-time Upper Peninsula golf champion, set an all-time course record recently at the Riverside Country Club in Menominee. He blistered par with a five-under 31.

Back in action at Central Michigan University this fall will be letterman halfback George Wolfe, former Munising High School athlete. Central will play Coach Frosty Peracca's Northern Michigan Wildcats in a homecoming game at Marquette on Oct. 12.

One of the highlight games of the Upper Peninsula Class B softball tournament here this week will be a contest between Iron Mountain Bosch and Houghton Bosch at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Babe Ruth diamond. The teams met in the U. P. finals last year with Iron Mountain winning twice to cop the championship.

Bosanic Finishes Opponent In 1st; Esky Fight Next

SAGINAW (Special To Daily Press)—Pete Bosanic, with one eye on his flailing opponent and the other on his upcoming Michigan middleweight championship bout, made short work of John Blair in a preliminary bout on the Kenny Lane-Paul Armstead fight here Monday night.

The undefeated Manistique Mauler blasted his foe with a devastating right to the jaw to halt the action with 53 seconds elapsed in the first round.

The victory was Bosanic's seventh straight in a professional career that began this spring. His last four bouts have failed to go the distance. Last night's was slated for six rounds.

Blair, of Akron, came swarming out of his corner at the opening bell, throwing punches from all angles.

Bosanic, slipped blocked and picked the barrage, then stuck a series of straight lefts to Blair's face. After a half minute of whirlwind action, Bosanic ripped a left hook to the head that hurt Blair. Shortly after, Bosanic zeroed in with a left-right combination that staggered Blair and a final crushing right sent him to the deck where he was counted out by the referee.

The bout was Bosanic's final tuneup for his first professional appearance in the Upper Peninsula where he gained fame as a six-time Golden Gloves champion. He will meet undefeated Jim Davis of Detroit in a 10 round bout for the Michigan 160 pound championship at the Escanaba High School gym Saturday night, Aug. 31.

Dick Ludwig, Bosanic's manager, stated he would have Pete back in training in Detroit early this week.

"Pete was impressive last night," Ludwig said. "He handled a difficult, swarming fighter in exactly the right way. He picked off the wild punches and when he fired his own shots he was right on target."

In Detroit, Bosanic will resume training with Billy Collins and Lucky Little at the Big D gym. He will taper off next week and leave for Escanaba in Aug. 28.

Ludwig credited veteran middleweight Wilkie Greaves with sharpening Bosanic for his Saginaw fight. Bosanic worked 18 rounds with the Canadian headliner in the last week.

Harold Johnson Gets New Duties At Senior High

Sixteen Teams In Class B

Softball Tourney Action To Start Here Wednesday

Games Wednesday
7—IM White Star vs. Marquette Remillard's
8:30—Mead vs. Ishpeming Casino

Games Thursday
7—Merchants vs. Chatham
8:30—Gwinn Steen's vs. Flat Rock

Games Friday
7—Wednesday's losers
8:30—Wednesday's winners

Games Saturday
Games will begin at 10 a. m. and continue through the day at Babe Ruth and Memorial Field diamonds.

First round firing in the Upper Peninsula Class B softball tournament will begin Wednesday night at Memorial Field diamond.

The barrage of softball action will continue through the remainder of the week, climaxing with a championship game Sunday night under the Memorial Field lights. Action will be restricted to Memorial Field on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, but the 16 team, double elimination tournament will make use of the Babe Ruth facilities for Saturday and Sunday morning and afternoon sessions.

The host Escanaba Softball Assn. will be represented by three teams from the American League.

Mead, Flat Rock and the Merchants earned the right to compete in the U. P. tournament in the recent district tourney.

Mead, winner of league and tournament titles here, will play Wednesday night's finale at 8:30 against Ishpeming Casino, champion of the Marquette district tournament. Todd Butler, top finger in area ranks, will grace the Mead mound.

Both the Merchants and Flat Rock will swing into action Thursday night. The Merchants

Boydston's Team Is Golf Winner

GLADSTONE — The team of Gust Boydston, Sam Beck, Chumny Cartwright and DeDe Peterson won the best ball tournament at the Days River course with a score of 61.

Placing second with 65 was the team of Gene Harris, Francis Gravelle, Marilyn Buckman and Bev Peterson. J. C. Miller, Walter Olds, Marie Kearney and Sally Johnson were third with 67.

Charley Johnson was low scorer for the men with a 38 and Katie VanDonzel led the women with a 48. A field of 18 teams competed.

Golfers Battle For Final Berth In World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Jack Cupit and Phil Rodgers battle in an 18-hole playoff at the Firestone Country Club course today for the fourth and final berth in next month's World Series of Golf.

The winner of the playoff will join U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, British Open winner Bob Charles and Masters and PGA champion Jack Nicklaus in the Sept. 7-8 World Series, to be played over Firestone's 7,165-yards, which demand a par of 35-35-70.

Nicklaus' victories in the Masters and PGA left one spot open in the series which first was played last year at Firestone, where Nicklaus defeated Palmer and Gary Player for the top prize of $50,000 in the $75,000 jackpot.

This year the winner again receives $50,000, the runnerup $15,000 and the also-rans $5,000 each.

Palmer is the favorite in the playoff—not only because of his stature as one of the all-time greats, but also because of his past performances on the Firestone course, where the American Golf Classic also is played.

Last year he tied the course record of 65 and his 72-hole total of 276 to win the American Classic in 1962 is unmatched.

Cupit had only one sub-par round at Firestone—a 69 in the 1961 American Classic—while Rodgers has played eight rounds on the course, failing to match par.

Packers' Pitts suffers injury

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, minus injured halfback Elijah Pitts, held a one-half hour workout Monday after watching movies of their 31-10 exhibition victory over the Dallas Cowboys Saturday night.

Pitts, who plunged two yards for a touchdown in the second period of the National Football League exhibition, is expected to be out of action one week to 10 days with a sprained shoulder.

The Packers, meanwhile, added defensive halfback Doug Hart to their roster. Hart, who was with the St. Louis Cardinals at the start of the training season, is from Arlington State College in Texas. Green Bay now has 46 players in camp.

meet Chatham at 7:30 with Bob Corriveau slated for mound duty against Cliff Johnson who formerly pitched in Escanaba circles.

Flat Rock, with Billy Smith the likely mound choice, will face Steen's Bar of Gwinn in the 8:30 nightcap.

One team will be eliminated in Friday night's schedule. The losers of Wednesday night's tournament openers will clash at 7, with the loser bowing out of the tournament. Wednesday night's winners will meet at 8:30.

The 16 teams competing in the tournament for the right to advance to the state finals on Labor Day weekend represent districts in Sault Ste. Marie, Marquette, Houghton, Ironwood, Iron Mountain and Escanaba.

Bill Lancourt, president of the Escanaba Softball Assn., is tournament director and Joe Ricci will serve as chief of the umpiring staff.

Butts Awarded Three Million In Libel Suit

ATLANTA (AP) — A federal court jury awarded Wally Butts a $3,000,000 judgment today in his $10 million libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post.

The Post had charged he was involved in a football game fix.

The jury's decision announced at 10:34 a.m. held in effect that the former University of Georgia coach and athletic director was libeled by a March 23 story written for the Post by Frank Graham Jr.

The verdict came after about 8 hours of deliberations.

In New York, a spokesman for Clay Blair Jr., the magazine's editor, said, "We are very disappointed and we are appealing."

The courtroom was filled when word circulated through bailiffs and others that the jurors had reached an agreement.

The 4-part verdict first found in favor of Butts. Jurors next ruled that he was entitled to $600,000 in general damages. The third part of the decision was that he was entitled to recover on punitive grounds involving malice in the publication of the article. The fourth decision was that the Curtis Publishing Co. should pay Butts $3 million in punitive damages.

Cardinals Move To Second Place Behind Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals, who last won a pennant when Stan Musial was a kid of 25, move into Los Angeles tonight for a showdown struggle with the National League-leading Dodgers after finishing off San Francisco with two blasts, a bloop and a bobble.

Seeking their first flag since 1946, in what would be a fitting tribute to the retiring Musial, the Cardinals took the first step Monday, moving into second place with an 8-7 victory over the Giants triggered by Ken Boyer's pair of two-run homers.

Boyer's shots in the seventh and ninth innings kept the Cardinals in contention in a wild game that ended with Julian Javier racing home from first base with the winning run in the last of the ninth as Felipe Alou bobbled Tim McCarter's bloop single.

It left the Cardinals 3½ games behind the Dodgers and dropped the Giants 6½ back—1½ games in front of surging Philadelphia. The Phillies beat the New York Mets 1-0 behind Dennis Bennett's five-hitter for their eighth straight victory.

In the only other game scheduled in either league, Cleveland used a pair of three-run homers by rookie Max Alvis in consecutive trips to wallop Boston 8-3.

The Cardinals are expected to send either young Ray Sadock or veteran Lew Burdette against the Dodgers' Johnny Podres tonight. St. Louis completed a sweep of the three-game set with the Giants in a game held up by fog and rain for 2½ hours. Then the teams belted each other around until the decisive ninth.

Trailing 5-4, the Giants tied the score in their half on a run-scoring single by Willie Mays and a two-run triple by Alou, who tagged a 3-4 pitch with two out by ancient Sam (Toothpick) Jones.

In the bottom half of the inning, Bill White walked and Boyer hit his 17th homer. Jack Fisher replaced Billy Hoelt on the mound and got the next two men before Javier singled.

McCarter then arched a looping fly that fell in right center and when Alou bobbled the ball, Javier raced home.

Bennett, bringing his record to 6-2, outdueling Galen Cisco, 7-13. The game's only run came in the second inning on consecutive singles by Don Demeter, Clay Dalrymple and Bobby Wine. Bennett was in trouble only in the seventh when the Mets had runners on second and third with two out. He got out of it by striking out Tim Harkness.

All But Plum Ready To Play

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP) — Head coach George Wilson said Monday all of the Detroit Lions, including rookies and veterans who have seen little action thus far, will play Saturday night when the Lions meet the St. Louis Cardinals at Omaha.

Excluded from this list, Wilson added, is quarterback Milt Plum who rejoined the team for practice for the first time in more than a week. Plum injured his left knee in the Lions' exhibition opener against Cleveland.

Wilson made two position changes Monday. Lucian Reeburg, 295-pound rookie defensive tackle, was moved to offense. Roy Williams was switched from offensive tackle to defensive end. Williams was the Lions' No. 2 draft choice.

The P-S Tigers, a member of the Wolverine Conference, will open their season Sept. 14.

Physical exams will be given and equipment issued.

Lane Wins State Version Of World Lightweight Title

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAGINAW Mich. (AP)—Kenny Lane finally has recognition as world lightweight champion, if only in the 58,266 square miles of Michigan, and he's anxious to fight Carlos Ortiz anywhere for the title covering the rest of the globe.

"Ortiz can call me the challenger, I don't care," said Lane after winning the Michigan version of the lightweight championship by outpointing Paul Armstead in a unanimous 15-round decision Monday night.

"But I'll call him the same thing," Lane added.

Lane, the World Boxing Association's No. 2 contender from Muskegon, Mich., received strong backing on the cards of all three officials in his victory over the first-ranked Armstead from Los Angeles.

All For Lane

Referee Lou Jallios gave Lane, 134½, a total of 146 points in Michigan's 10-point must system, to 143 for Armstead, who weighed 135. Judge Don Dilley gave Lane the verdict 147-141 and Judge West Tebeau scored it 146-138. The Associated Press card favored Lane 145-144.

"We'll give Ortiz plenty of offers and see what he comes up with," said Lane. "We'll have to see what comes out of the WBA now."

Lane, a southpaw counter-puncher, has charged Ortiz and the WBA with giving him a run-around in bids for a title fight. Because of it, Michigan withdrew from the WBA in June. The WBA also stripped Ortiz of his title in June for failure to defend, but restored the championship Sunday.

Ortiz was reinstated as champion with the stipulation he sign by the end of the year to fight the Lane-Armstead winner.

Lane and Ortiz have fought twice before, each winning once. If he can't get Ortiz to agree to a third meeting, Lane said he wants to defend his portion of the championship as quickly as possible.

"We figure on fighting any opponents," said the 31-year-old Lane, who lost a narrow lightweight title challenge to Joe Brown five years ago and has

Girls Softball Tourney Drawings Slated Wednesday

Drawings for the girls softball tournament will be held Wednesday evening prior to the game between the State Bank and the Nurses which starts at 6:30 at Royce Park, it was announced today by Parma Smith, league president.

All teams must be represented at the drawings.

The tournament will be held Aug. 26-Sept. 1 at Memorial Field. Two games will be played each night in the double elimination tourney.

The State Bank team has clinched the league championship with a 13-2 record and one game left to play. A trophy will be awarded to the league champion and the runnerup, with medals being given to players of both teams.

Twins Threaten Tiger Position

DETROIT (AP) — After climbing to second place in the second division—the Detroit Tigers could lose ground in their basement ment battling tonight. They have to play a first division team.

If the third-place Minnesota Twins take the two-game series from the Tigers, who are in seventh place overall, the eighth-place Los Angeles Angels and ninth-place Kansas City Athletics could dump Detroit back in ninth again.

That's where the Tigers were last week before they beat the Athletics and then the Angels in showdown battles and climbed two places. They now lead both teams by one game.

Gaining would be harder for Detroit. Sixth-place Cleveland—the front-runner in the second division—has a three-game edge on the Tigers.

There are some bright spots in the picture, though. Minnesota has only a 7-6 edge in games over the Tigers for the season. Meanwhile, Cleveland is playing the New York Yankees. The Angels are playing fourth-place Baltimore.

Kansas City has the best chance of advancing today. The A's play the last-place Washington Senators.

Then they come to Detroit Friday for a five-game battle with the Tigers, which could shake up the second division standings again.

On the mound, the Tigers could use performances like the one their Syracuse farmhand, Willie been trying to get another championship fight ever since. "We want to pick up all we can while we can."

Has Two Offers

Lane spoke of an offer from Philadelphia to defend his Michigan-recognized title against an unnamed opponent. There also was an offer to fight Ortiz in Detroit's Cobo Arena with each fighter guaranteed $30,000.

Ortiz turned down $50,000 to fight me in Las Vegas," Lane said. "So I doubt if he'd take less to fight me in my home state."

Lane battered the area surrounding Armstead's eyes in the late rounds as he became the aggressor. Armstead had the better of it in the early going as he repeatedly slugged Lane with rights to the head.

"He's bitter about the decision," said Armstead's manager, Bill Newman. "He thought he was far ahead on points and could coast. Instead he coasted out of the decision."

It was Lane's right jab from his southpaw's stance and solid left crosses that turned the tide of the fight, starting in the 10th round.

The fight drew only 2,217 paying customers in Saginaw's Veterans Memorial Stadium. They paid $16.150, and each fighter received 30 per cent of the receipts.

Defending Champ Off And Running

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) —Defending champion Joanne Gunderson, is off and running again, but it remained for a transplanted tennis player to put the spice in the opening round of the 63rd Women's Amateur Golf Championship at Taconic Golf Club.

Miss Gunderson, a former Washington State blaster now living in Providence, R.I., covered the course Monday in two under par, easily winning her first match in the week-long tournament.

But a cool, steady playing blonde who had never been in a national tournament was the center of attraction after knocking out one of the four former champions in the field.

Two survived — Miss Gunderson and Mrs. Anne Quast Welts of Seattle, Wash. — but Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo., the 1959 United States winner and a former British Amateur champion, and Mrs. Robert Cronin of Hartford, Conn., the former Grace Lenzyk, who won the title in 1948, were eliminated.

Elizabeth (Sunny) Fleitas of Greenwich, Del., was the girl who shocked Miss McIntire, winning 1-up. She had never played golf at all until 1960 and this is only her sixth tournament.

Mrs. Cronin was eliminated by Mrs. Mae Murray Jones, three-time New England champion from Pontefract, Vt., who won 1-up in 20 holes.

Miss Gunderson, who also captured the amateur crown in 1957 and 1960, won 6 and 5 over Mrs. William Warren of Rochester, N.Y.

Mrs. Welts, the winner in 1958 and 1961, beat Mrs. John Pennington of Buffalo, N.Y., 6 and 5.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Max Alvis, Indians, hit a pair of three-run homers in consecutive at-bats, powering Cleveland to 8-3 victory over Boston.

PITCHING — Dennis Bennett, Phillies, shut out New York Mets 1-0 on five hits for Philadelphia's eighth consecutive triumph.

MANISTIQUE

Historical Society Efforts Outlined

At the annual picnic Sunday of the Schoolcraft Historical Society at Maple Grove school, a program on early history of the group, museum collections in Chicago and a collection of women's purses in the 1890 period to the present were discussed by Mrs. J. Joseph Herbert.

"It has been known that an active historical society was in existence in Schoolcraft County in the 1920s, but all records of its work or proceedings were lost until recently. Among some old Michigan History magazines, I found an account by Mrs. Nettie S. Thorberg which she read before the joint meeting of the state society and the Schoolcraft Pioneer and Historical Society held in Manistique, July 24-26, 1924.

Mrs. Thorberg tells of her long-time desire to start a local society, which was spurred by the news that in 1913 a state department of History and Archives was in existence. She affiliated with it and in March 1920 was granted a life membership.

First Step In 1921
"The first step toward a county organization was in 1921 with a questionnaire to the pioneers in the county. At the county fair in 1922, a committee of interested men and women was selected, with Mrs. Thorberg acting as secretary. Due to the united effort and enthusiasm, the project made great strides, she wrote.

"In June, 1923, Mrs. Thorberg went before the City Council to petition them to extend an invitation to the State Society to meet in Manistique and as a result of this invitation, a formal organization was made at the High School auditorium on June 29, 1923.

"Its booth at the County Fair demonstrated that the county had a large and well preserved collection of pictures, many relics of interest and implements invented of sheer necessity in days of isolation from outside markets. The society had 60 members and 1 quote" some money in the treasury." In this same magazine is an historical sketch of Germfask Township by the late Honorable D. F. Morrison of Germfask which he had read at the July 24-25 meeting.

"Under historical notes in this magazine of 1925 appears an account of the two day convention. Community singing was led by Ed Jewell; the invocation was given by Rev. Fr. Schevers; President Edward Miller gave the address of welcome and James Christensen, City Clerk read a paper on the history of Manistique. Mrs. Paul Baldwin played a piano solo and John I. Bellane addressed the audience on "Pioneer Days in the State and County."

Father Gagner Sings

"At the Friday session, a piano duet was rendered by Mrs. Anna Owen and Miss Florence Williams (now Mrs. Seb Rubick). Miss Murtart read a paper on Anecdotes of Early Events in Manistique and Schoolcraft County. Photographer E. O. Braut took a picture of the audience on the steps of the high school. Another program highlight was a trip to Indian Lake where the group viewed the old Indian burial ground and the site of the old mission. Many went to view the "Seven Years Spring" and to drink its cool refreshing waters, which according to legend assures of life and a return to the Spring.

Rev. Father Gagner, missionary to the area Indians, played an original piano composition and sang the verse in French. W. F. Kefauver, accompanied by his daughter Helen (Mrs. A. F. Hall) sang Pale Moon after which Father Gagner addressed the group on Schoolcraft County. . . and "What the Indians Knew." Mrs. E. W. Miller read a paper on Pioneer Days and the convention closed by the audience singing a song composed by Mrs. Thorberg entitled, "Schoolcraft County is My Country."

"Of those taking part in this first program only Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Rubick and Mrs. Hall are living and so far as I know the pictures and records are gone. A few objects gathered by the Society were housed in the Manistique High School in a case given by the Manistique Women's Club. These objects are presently in the Post House," Mrs. Herbert said.

Dinner Dance Planned Sept. 7 At Golf Club

The Indian Lake Golf and Country Club will hold a dinner dance Sept. 7.

A cocktail hour is scheduled starting at 6 p. m., the dinner at 7 and dancing from 9 to 1. Music will be by Gorsche's orchestra. Tickets should be obtained by Sept. 5 from members of the committee or Saul or Mel Condelia at the golf club.

Serving on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brawley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chartier, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Corson, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Males, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Modders and Dr. and Mrs. Duane L. Waters.

Railway Dispute Deal Negotiated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union and railroad attorneys try to get together today on the details of a proposed method for settling their long work rules dispute.

With the threat of a nationwide strike just nine days off, the two sides were to submit their versions of how to conduct a combined arbitration - negotiation agreement proposed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The four-year-old dispute hinges on the railroads' announced intention to post new work rules that would eliminate the jobs of 32,000 firemen on diesel locomotives.

The five train unions say they would strike immediately as soon as the new rules go into effect. The date for the change is Aug. 29.

State Briefs

DETROIT (AP) — James Meredith, the first Negro ever graduated from the University of Mississippi, will be the principal speaker at a Baptist Ministers' Conference in Detroit Sunday.

PETOSKEY (AP) — Petoskey police are investigating the theft of precipitation measuring equipment from the rear of the Petoskey fire hall over the weekend. Missing are a can, tube and funnel which measure rainfall or snowfall. All of the equipment belongs to the U.S. Government.

ALPENA (AP) — Edwin H. Rosenthaler, 41, president and general manager of Elastizell Corp., died Sunday night at his summer home near here.

BUCHANAN (AP) — Clark Equipment Co. says it has ordered $3 million in computer equipment as the first step in establishing an integrated data processing system. The system is expected to solve the information flow problem between Clark's decentralized plants.

SAWYER (AP) — Mrs. Nicie Brown, 58, of Detroit, was killed near here Monday when the car driven by her husband, Ezra, 61, crashed through an I-94 bridge railing.

SAGINAW (AP) — Fire officials say a carelessly discarded cigarette caused a fire which extensively damaged American Legion Post 312 Sunday.

LANSING (AP) — Opening of the Michigan State Fair in Detroit Friday tops the list of weekend events in Michigan, reports the Tourist Council. Other events will include the final two days of the Three Rivers Water Carnival Friday and Saturday and the Clothesline Art Show at Nashville Saturday. Nine county fairs also will observe their closing dates either Saturday or Sunday at Alpena, Petoskey, Kalamazoo, Caro, Mount Pleasant, Carsonville, Atlanta, Armada and Hesperia.

Edwin Wuehle, assistant superintendent of the Escanaba Area Public Schools, today clarified information relating to student registration. He said students who will be enrolling in the Escanaba Area Public Schools for the first time are requested to register on Wednesday, Aug. 21, if registration has not already been made.

Minneapolis Shoal Lighthouse is familiar to Great Lakes yachtsmen, but not to landlubbers because it's distant from shore, 12 miles south of Escanaba in Green Bay.

Lighthouses Guard State Water Boundary Traffic

The shipping lanes of the Great Lakes waters of Michigan are among the busiest in the world. Safe passage through the shoals, reefs and sandbars of this watery highway system is dependent on a vast network of lighthouses and other navigation aids.

With the longest freshwater coastline in the world — some 3,000 miles — Michigan has scores of lighthouses within its boundaries from the awesome isolation of Stannard Rock light in Lake Superior to the Livingston Memorial light on Belle Isle near the heart of metropolitan Detroit.

The visual appeal of the lonely sentinel towers combined with the romantic association of lighthouses with ships in peril, attracts many visitors to the more accessible lights, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Large portions of most Great Lakes voyages require intricate navigation through river passages and harbor channels. The added hazards of the storms and dense fogs that harass Lakes mariners have brought about the construction of the most elaborate navigation system in the world.

To meet the challenge of the Lakes, a number of notable lighthouses have been built. Two of the most isolated are at Stannard Rock and Spectacle Reef.

Most Distant

Stannard Rock, 23 miles out in Lake Superior off Keweenaw peninsula, is the most distant from shore of any lighthouse in United States' waters. The 110-foot concrete tower with its 156,000 candlepower light was constructed in 1877 to warn ships of the half-mile-long reef that it sits atop.

Spectacle Reef light is at the eastern end of the Straits of Mackinac, ten miles from shore. Twin shoals of limestone rock claimed several ships before the 93-foot tower was completed in 1874.

The most popular lighthouses with tourists are those that are located on the mainland or close enough to be seen and photographed easily. There are many such lights in Michigan, most of them still in active service though often unmanned.

Fort Gratiot light near Port Huron on Michigan's east coast has been the site of a light since 1825. The present 82-foot tower was erected in 1861 and its 150,000 candlepower beam guides shipping from a location that is one of the two oldest in the state.

Further north on the eastern shoreline is Presque Isle, where an historic lighthouse stands near its operating successor. The "old" lighthouse, a stubby tower with three-foot thick walls, operated from 1840 until replaced by the larger lighthouse in 1870.

Delta's Lights

Another interesting light in Lake Huron waters is the black-hulled "Huron" lightship visible from Highway US 25 near Port Huron. The 13,000 candlepower light marks the western rim of the Lake Huron "cut." The present ship and its predecessors have been on duty since 1883.

A string of lights rims Lake Michigan from the Wisconsin border at the mouth of the Menominee River to St. Helene Island in the Lake Michigan approach to the Straits of Mackinac. There are lights at Cedar River, at Sand

Since 1858

Point Betsie light located north of the twin cities of Frankfort-Elietta was put into commission in 1858 and shipwrecks visible in the clear waters nearby are mute testimony to the importance of this 52-foot tower.

The name Point Betsie is derived—as are several others—from corruptions of French phrases. Pointe Betsie was originally Pointe aux Bees Scies, meaning "sawed beam point."

galée" light that is well-known to the sailboat captains who take part in the Chicago to Mackinac yacht race. This name derives from the French "Isle aux Galés" or "island of pebbles."

Among the tallest lighthouse towers in Michigan are the Big and Little Sable lights located south of the coastal town of Pentwater. Little Sable is the taller of the two, casting its 25,000 candlepower light from a tower of 103 feet high. Little Sable was the last kerosene powered light on the Great Lakes, having been converted to electricity in 1954.

Big Sable light was commissioned in 1867—seven years before its companion—and its 106-foot tower has used whale oil lamps, coal oil, kerosene and incandescent oil vapor prior to being equipped with its present electric lamp.

Throughout Michigan there are lighthouses—both active and deserted—that are popular with visitors to the state. Each has its own individual touch of the romance of the sea and serves as a link with the days of "wooden ships and iron men."

Ann Arbor Groups Ask Ordinance On Fair Housing

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The names of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Arjay Miller, president of Ford Motor Co., appeared in an "open letter" advertisement in Monday's Ann Arbor News asking a Strong fair housing ordinance promptly.

Miller lives here. McNamara still maintains voting residence here. Names of their wives also appeared in the advertisement.

There were approximately 500 names signed to today's advertisement. Similar ones have appeared previously carrying a total of approximately 1,800 names.

The Ann Arbor Area Fair Housing Association, an affiliate of the Congress On Racial Equality (CORE), is sponsoring a campaign here for what it terms a "strong fair housing ordinance."

Rich Contractor Fills Senate Seat Of Estes Kefauver

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Democratic Gov. Frank Clement named Herbert S. Walters, wealthy East Tennessee contractor, today to succeed the late Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Walters, 71, Democratic national committeeman, will hold office until a successor is named in the Nov. 3, 1964, election to serve the remaining two years of Kefauver's term.

Kefauver died of a heart attack Aug. 10.

Walters, a figure in state Democratic politics for more than 20 years, is more conservative than was Kefauver.

Walters is not expected to run for the office in next year's election, leaving the way clear for Clement to make the race if he chooses.

Clement interrupted his attendance at the Southern Governor's Conference in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., to return here for the announcement. He plans to return to the meeting later today.

Chicago-St. Joseph Sixty-Mile Swim Started By 16

CHICAGO (AP) — Thirteen men and three women plunged into Lake Michigan today to start a 60-mile swim across the lake to St. Joseph, Mich.

Backers claim it is the longest open water swim in the world. They expect the winner to reach the Michigan shoreline in about 45 hours.

Miss Taylor Sees Movie 'Cleopatra'

LONDON (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor saw her movie "Cleopatra" for the first time Monday night. She took 43 guests to the theater. Richard Burton, her costar, was not among them. Because of him, Miss Taylor was 10 minutes late.

She was delayed at Shepperton Studios, southwest of London, where she watched Burton working in a new movie, "Becket."

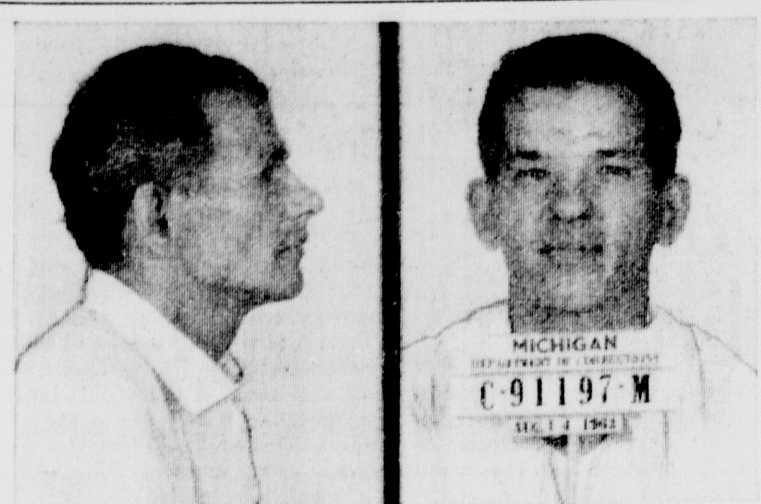

Miss Taylor's guests were members of Russia's Bolshoi ballet troupe, which has been touring Britain.

NEWBERRY

Nicholas Detzlers 50th Anniversary Observed Here

NEWBERRY — Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Detzler observed their golden wedding anniversary here Saturday beginning with a Solenn High Mass at St. Gregory's church, officiated at by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis Scheringer, Rev. A. Ehlinger and Rev. Paul Manderfield.

The couple received a special Papal Blessing from Pope Paul VI, and a blessing from Monsignor Scheringer as they knelt at the altar.

Following the Mass a granddaughter of the Detzlers, Miss Kathleen Detzler placed a bouquet of golden flowers at the altar of the Blessed Virgin, while soloist, Mrs. Alma Villeneuve sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother."

A dinner was served immediately following the service in the Community Hall.

A reception was held in the afternoon in the community hall dining room, where the tables were arranged and decorated with crystal holders of garden flowers.

The bride's table was laid with a white cloth with accessories in gold, and centered with a three tier wedding cake.

Several hundred friends called during the afternoon to offer congratulations and Mr. and Mrs. Detzler received many gifts.

They were married Sept. 3, in Manistique at St. Francis de Sales Church by Rev. Fr. Schever, their attendants were David Quinlan and Della Moran Fugere. Presently they are living at their cottage at Round Lake, and for ten years have spent their winters in Florida.

They have a son, Detective Pat Detzler of the Michigan State Police of Lansing; two daughters, Mrs. Francis Leaf of Keego Harbor, Billie Detzler of Chicago, and four grandchildren.

Mr. Detzler operated a trucking and draying business until his retirement in 1959. They are members of St. Gregory's parish, and Mr. Detzler belongs to the local council of the Knights of Columbus.

Sap of a tree doesn't always go down in the fall and rise in the spring; some trees have higher moisture content in winter.

Dollar Losses Mount For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

ON THE RISE: The Commerce Department reports the U.S. balance of payments deficit in the second quarter was about $1.3 billion, a $500-million increase over the first three months of the year.

If projected for the remainder of 1963, the loss of dollars would shatter the record $3.9-billion outflow of 1959 and 1960. However, both Treasury and Commerce officials said the second quarter probably was an unusual one and that to base an estimate for the year on it would be a distortion.

DAY OFF: Thousands of government workers are likely to take a one-day vacation Aug. 23 — either to take part in the big "freedom march" — or to stay home and thus keep out of the crush.

However, the Civil Service Commission says it doesn't expect government activities to be crippled that day. It said that come what may it expected each agency to keep enough employees on duty to take care of essential work.
